House Evenly Divided

Debate Turning Emotional

OTTAWA (CP) — The emotional content of the Commons capital punishment debate stepped up Thursday as abolitionists and retentionists tossed out Bible quotations and statistics for and against abolishing the hangman.

Blizzard Strikes Again

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — The U.S. northern midwest's second greatest blizzard in three years buffeted upper Michigan Thursday, slowing life to a crawl. The death toll mounted steadily in the sideshawls and wake of the savage storm. In its last blow at the United States before sweeping across the upper Great Lakes into Canada, the blizzard dumped 14 inches of snow on Marquette, Mich., closed schools through four counties, and blocked all major highways.

Below zero and near-zero cold chilled Mid-westerners as they sought to break the shackles of towering snowdrifts that clogged highways and stranded thousands of persons. The powerful storm system claimed at least 37 lives, 17 in Nebraska alone.

Warning Device Developed

No More Mid-Air Collisions?

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — McDonnell Aircraft Corp. announced Thursday it has developed a warning device that can eliminate mid-air collisions of airplanes.

The device has been tested on McDonnell's phantom jet fighter planes and probably will be developed for use by airliners.

MINUTE'S WARNING

It provides a 60-second warning to airplanes converging at speeds of up to four times the speed of sound, (640 m.p.h. at sea level) and even tells the pilots what evasive action to take to avoid a collision, a McDonnell spokesman said.

Airlines have been seeking such a system for 10 years. McDonnell claimed it is the first to develop it, and in Washington, a spokesman for the Air Transport Association of America said a collision avoidance system "is closer to realization than at any previous time."

The safety device is called EROS for Eliminate Range Zero System. It gives collision warnings to airplanes 1½ miles apart. The cockpit indicator has

Flu Fells West

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Influenza outbreaks of epidemic proportions were reported Thursday in parts of British Columbia, the Prairies, Ontario and Quebec, and five deaths have been attributed at least in part to the illness.

Most recent death was David Robert Chapman, 4½, of Calgary, who died at his home, but the state may be in order to defend society.

MPs had to consider the issue in terms of the government's responsibility towards society.

STATE RIGHT

Mr. McIntosh said he has concluded there is divine authority for two laws about killing—the individual is forbidden from killing, but the state may be in order to defend society.

MPs had to consider the issue in terms of the government's responsibility towards society.

WAR

If the government had no right to hang murderers or treasonists, soldiers had no justification for being proud to serve in the armed forces during wartime. He said padres tell soldiers entering battle that they are fighting on behalf of their government, not as individuals.

He agreed with a recent resolution of the Young Progressive Conservative Association that the death penalty should be retained for persons convicted of premeditated murder, murder of a law enforcement officer, anyone previously convicted of murder and treason.

SUBSTITUTE LIFE

The Commons resolution sponsored by four MPs from the Liberal, Conservative and New Democratic parties, would abolish the death penalty and substitute a mandatory life sentence. Parole of murderers would be subject to a federal cabinet order.

Mr. McIntosh rejected arguments that many murderers are not responsible for their actions because they come from slums or lack education. Neither environment nor heredity was the basic cause. It was something "in the heart or mind." It must be horrible to watch a hanging. But a murder was more horrible.

Civil Servants Call Off Strike

QUEBEC (CP) — In a close vote, Quebec's civil servants decided late Thursday night to abandon plans for a strike set for 7 a.m. today and accept a government contract offer.

Results of the vote, in which some 15,000 of 25,000 civil servants took part, were telephoned to Quebec City from outlying centres for compilation. The decision to accept the government offer was supported by 65 per cent of those voting.

The government offered pay increases which it estimated will cost $30,000,000 to $35,000,000 over the life of the two-year contract.

Some 6,500 government employees attended the Quebec City meeting at which the result of the vote was announced.

Union negotiators had recommended that the offer be accepted.

Affront Claimed

Uruguay Miffed By Royal Snub

MONTEVIDEJO, Uruguay (UPI) — Uruguay's Council of Government went into secret session Thursday to consider details of an "affront" to its ambassador in London, Carlos Maria Velazquez, by Queen Elizabeth.

A government spokesman said the "affront" consisted of Elizabeth's refusal to take the extended hand of the envoy at a diplomatic reception.

The spokesman said it was presumed the "affront" was delivered because the envoy wore insignia related to territorial areas over the jurisdiction of which the two countries are in litigation.

The spokesman said the foreign minister had asked the ambassador for more details on the alleged rebuff.

One-Month Climb

North Wall Of Eiger Conquered

KLEINE SCHEIDECK, Switzerland (UPI) — Five members of an international alpine team became the first persons to conquer the 6,000-foot vertical north wall of the Eiger Thursday night, capping a month-long straight-up climb that claimed the life of one companion and forced seven others to turn back.

But a blinding snowstorm that swept across the barren ice fields and nearly swept the exhausted alpinists away, forced them to turn back before reaching the summit.

They retreated back to the rim and bivouacked near the top of the icy wall which over the years has cost the lives of 27 climbers.

EASY CLIMB, NOW

Their camp was about 700 feet below the 13,000-foot summit and they waited a break in the weather to make the relatively easy climb to the top where two fellow climbers, flown in by helicopter, waited to greet them.

Five companions, including an American, turned back earlier Friday, almost within sight of victory. They did not wish to commit suicide," said one of them, German Karl Golikow.

Two Americans were among the 13-man team which started out to conquer the dreaded wall, but neither finished.

DIED IN PLUNGE

Ex-fighter pilot John Harlin of Los Altos, Calif., was killed two days ago when a rope separated and he plunged 4,000 feet to his death. The other, Layton Kor of Boulder, Colo., was among the five men who were ordered back down the mountain during the day.

According to radio reports from the top of the wall, German Jerg Lehne and Scotsman Dougal Haston were the first to top the wall, followed closely by Germans Siegfried Ilupauer, Günther Strobel and Roland Votteler.

FLEW TO SUMMIT

Two Britons, Chris Bonnington and Nick Burke, flew to the summit by helicopter to await their arrival and welcome them.

But thick fog which reduced visibility to zero delayed the reunion.

The climbers reported by radio they had lost all sense of direction and would not move until the fog lifted.

LAND

Replied Mr. Kiernan, "We don't want to tell you it's absolutely 100 per cent (safe) until we know."

"If it isn't, the tailings will go on the land."

Mr. Gibson said that if, in the minister's judgment, there would be a greater return to the people from mining than from its use, the minister should stand before the cabinet and tell Mr. Premier that's what you're going to do."

"Western Mines is doing nothing but good for the people of this province," said Mr. Gibson.

Even Diagnosis Dangerous

Beware 'the Diseases of Medical Progress'

The next development was a psychosis and a perforation of the ulcer. This inflamed the intestinal lining and resulted in the patient's death 76 days after his admission to the hospital. Autopsy revealed two acute ulcers in addition to the perforated bone marrow. Meanwhile the dermatitis and its allergic cause involved the kidneys. Adrenal hormones were administered for that condition and the peptic ulcer.

Cures, Too, Can Be Fatal

By DELOS SMITH
Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two physicians offer this humble pie to all physicians: "Unfortunately, the explosive advance in our knowledge and capabilities in medicine does not differ from any other explosion. Individuals exposed to it are liable to be harmed."

They did so in a technical organ of the American Medical Association, to give point to the observation that whereas progress in medical science and practice has reduced illnesses and deaths from naturally occurring diseases, "modern standards of medical care have created an ever-increasing and diversified group of artificially induced diseases."

The "diseases" they described had its beginning when a Chinese man was admitted to the (New York) city hospital centre, a teaching hospital.

He had had drug treatment for a small infection of tuberculosis. One drug diminished his hearing; the other reacted in his liver, causing the jaundice and later it was to react in a peptic ulcer. A dye was put into his veins for a liver study and there was an allergic reaction resulting in dermatitis.

At the same time a sample of liver was taken by needle for biopsy which led to a bile infection which was treated by an antibiotic which depressed the bone marrow. Meanwhile the dermatitis and its allergic cause involved the kidneys. Adrenal hormones were administered for that condition and the peptic ulcer.

On this and course of events, following the application in a teaching hospital of the best diagnostic techniques modern medicine has to offer, Drs. Seckler and Spritzer commented: "Recent studies have shown that 20 per cent of hospitalized patients at teaching institutions experienced a deleterious complication directly related to their medical care and major complications which are life-threatening or a contributing cause of death have occurred in some 5 per cent of these patients."

Gunman's sister crouches by fence as police fire gas shells

Gunman Chooses Death

SPRINGFIELD, Ore. (AP)—A gunman who fled early Thursday after being stopped by police for having expired licence plates on his car, held two persons hostage in their house for more than eight hours and then shot himself as police lobbed tear gas into the house.

Harry Joseph Acree, 33, died in hospital shortly after shooting himself in the mouth.

The two hostages, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fawbush, were unharmed, but were taken to hospital for observation after Mrs. Fawbush collapsed entering a neighbor's home.

Terrence Wilson, a policeman shot while Acree fled from the road check, was in fair condition. Police Lieut. Alfred Hartman, who had been with Wilson, said Acree fired the shot that hit the policeman.

Police said Acree had spotted lights on in the Fawbush house when he ran from his car, knocked on the door and was admitted by Mr. Fawbush.

Acree's sister, Mrs. James McCutcheon, was in the house

Ramsey, Pope Plan Dialogue on Unity

ROME (Reuters)—Pope Paul and the Archbishop of Canterbury announced Thursday the opening of a "serious dialogue" between their two churches with a joint pledge to seek unity for the world's 350,000,000 Roman Catholics and 45,000,000 Anglicans.

Their declaration followed a worship service at which both leaders took part, in the Roman Catholic Basilica of St. Paul's Outside the Walls. The service came at the end of a three-day visit to Rome by the archbishop, Most Rev. Arthur Michael Ramsey.

FOUR CENTURIES

It marked a reconciliation between the two churches after four centuries of discord.

But in the declaration and in a press conference given by the Anglican archbishop before his departure from Rome Thursday, it was made clear that both leaders are aware of serious obstacles in the way of restoration of complete unity.

EXPRESSES CONCERN

Archbishop Ramsey emphasized his concern with the partial nature of a new Vatican ruling on marriages between Roman Catholics and persons of other faiths.

"I have made it clear to everyone with whom I have conversed in Rome that the new instruction does not satisfy the consciences of Anglicans and other non-Catholic Christians," the archbishop said.

NOT FINAL

But he said the Vatican instruction was clearly not meant to be a final statement.

The Vatican instruction, issued last week on the eve of Archbishop Ramsey's visit, lifted the ban of excommunication for Catholics who are married by clergymen of other faiths.

But it made clear that the Catholic church still considers mixed marriages invalid unless they are performed by Catholic priests.

New Broom in Jakarta

TWO REPORTED developments from Indonesia—the precipitate departure of Chinese diplomats and advisers of the Sukarno regime and a wholesale renovation of the cabinet structure—cannot be interpreted as anything but good news for the West.

The emerging strong-man in the populous republic, General Suharto, already has outlawed the Chinese-sponsored Communist Party in his country; and the announced purging of the Communist element in the cabinet is consequently somewhat redundant.

The clandestine radio, Free Indonesia, monitored in Singapore, claims closure of all Chinese consulates has been ordered by the government.

Whether this is true or not, and if it is true, whether it portends the severing of diplomatic relations between the two countries, it is too early to guess. But there is no doubt that as long as General Suharto is in control the influence of Peking will be negligible, not only in Indonesia's internal affairs but in its foreign policy: a policy which included confrontation with Malaysia and aimed at the destruction of the British-inspired federation on the nearby peninsula.

Western nations concerned with the infiltration by Chinese into the 3,000 islands which comprise Indonesia, and the Sukarno tendency to follow Peking's directives, have long felt the new republic a menace at their backs while they have made their stand in southeast Asia.

Now, if the new regime is to be taken seriously, these tensions will relax.

A truly independent Indonesia has more important things to do than goad Malaysia at Peking's bidding. It has its own house to put in order if it is to survive; and this, in view of the state of the treasury and the paralyzing inflation in the land, is a tremendous undertaking.

Ever since the Japanese surrender in 1945 (they had driven out the Dutch who had colonized the islands ever since they supplanted the Portuguese in 1506) Indonesia has faced difficulties in unifying into the new revolutionary republic its 54 ethnic groups, speaking 200 languages and dialects. There still exists the danger of fragmentation of the state.

But if these people are allowed to concentrate on the essentials of national construction, given good leadership they can achieve it. What they need is help and encouragement from friendly powers, not the bullying tactics of a dictator bent upon following an ideology entirely foreign to the nature of the independent and proud races which occupy this fruitful and lovely land.

Too Much Freedom

IT MAY SEEM to be a contradiction in character that the reputedly staid Britisher is, in fact, an inveterate gambler.

We generally think of Americans as pretty fast with a buck, as the saying goes; but this reputation was earned for them by the Mississippi riverboat professionals and the card-sharps of the early west rather than today's visitors to Las Vegas and Reno.

The Britisher, always anxious to take a flutter at the track, in recent years has spread his operations to the football pools, where uncalculable thousands are wagered in sums ranging from a few pennies to pounds. Legally operating bookmakers are prepared to name the odds on anything from a general election to a boat race. Crowds swarm to the betting booths at the dog tracks. And with the legalizing of betting clubs, roulette and every other form of gambling are no longer clandestine affairs but flourishing openly—mainly in London's Soho district.

It is estimated—and admittedly conservatively—that Britons are wagering in excess of a billion pounds a year; and this by a nation numbering only 50 million.

They make "Diamond Jim" Brady and his pals look like pokers.

It is no wonder that the money-hungry gangs have moved in with their strong-arm "protection" racketeers and that London, like Chicago, New York, Los Angeles and Detroit, is experiencing the frightening phenomenon of the gun-toting mobster.

When one comes right down to it, there should be no more surprise at the British gambling propensity than at the invasion of the gangster. Drake and Raleigh and that breed were among the greatest gamblers who ever lived. So were the empire-builders like Cecil Rhodes. So were the men who founded the Hudson's Bay Company, the East India Company and the tea, silk and opium trade in China. They risked more than money. They frequently staked their lives.

But the British are a little late in realizing that when the door is opened wide undesirables are going to come into the gaming business along with the customers.

And once they are in, it will take an explosive force to get them out.

British newspapers, shocked by violence, including gun killings in London, are demanding the immediate overhaul of the Betting and Gaming Act no matter which party wins a majority in the general election of March 31. The situation may demand drastic amendments, including the closing of the gambling clubs. There is no time to lose, certainly; and even now it may be too late to avoid the painful consequences of too much freedom.

Cash or Credit

ONE RECOMMENDATION in the Morrow report on gasoline prices that may shock the modern business community is the one which suggests that those paying cash for gasoline should get a lower rate than those who "charge it" by credit card.

The day is long gone—perhaps regrettably—when the cash customer was welcomed with special discounts. Today the merchant is much more interested in the credit system particularly if it means profit financing with rich gravy in the form of high interest charges.

Not only does the cash customer get no special consideration, but he also finds himself at a disadvantage on those occasions when he may find it necessary to charge or borrow. The man who pays cash for everything never gets a listing with the various credit bureaus, and thus his rating will at best be negative, and at worst that he is not a good credit risk.

If Judge Morrow has done something to improve the lot of the cash customer, and if he can restore for that thrifty individual the recognition he deserves, his royal commission report will not have been in vain.

But he is not likely to win much support from the banks, and other financial institutions whose whole business revolves around revolving and other types of credit.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax . . ."

By TOM TAYLOR

INSTANT coffee, which doesn't taste like coffee since I prefer another innocent beverage, has nothing on what might be called, and not so irreverently either, instant apartments or other structures which spring to life almost overnight.

I came upon one the other morning, taking a route to the office I hadn't travelled for at least ten days. One likes to change the journey to avoid boredom, you know. And it's so doing that one blinks to find many corners, so familiar to me, which one doesn't notice until one looks at them, undergoing a physique metamorphosis. Say away from a given area of town for a few weeks and lo and behold, there it is, another foundation being laid or concrete slabs starting to climb.

There never surely was such a spurge of building in all the history of our ancient globe. Instant coffee, the dictionary defines as "of pressing or urgent need. One might question the immediacy of coffee that must be served in a coffee, or by any other of those conveniences packaged for consumption with scarcely a moment's delay, but not the pleasure of one kind or another that changes the civic scene.

And change it certainly has been these past two decades in Victoria, that confounding assembly of communities split officially into four but in living reality one, nearly happy family. The home I adopted night on 30 years ago or the other way round whichever is most appropriate, is not as it was, physically for certain, when I became a lodger in my precincts.

* * *

Not, I probably should hasten to say, that I find the evolution resulting from bulldozers, power shovels, and the marvels of erection devices that are criteria of instant building, to my extreme distress. I may still have ears-to-the-ground at the foot of my pants but I am not, I hope, precisely what is ingeniously called a square. This latter designation in any case, is better left to the apartment dwellings of office buildings under review, many of them being of such architectural shape. Not all of them, either, tend to end in a speed vehicle but are content with a modest three- or four-story eminence and their variety of design and outward appointments being enough to the eye. So long, at least as the facades, often only an inch or two thick, withstand the rigors even of a mild climate and retain their pristine good looks.

* * *

We are too, and this is essential to belie accusations of quizziness or laggard mind, keeping up with the Joneses now globally spread. Every city of any pretensions, no matter in what country, old or new, is in a fervor to instant alteration of its structural atmosphere. The only drawback, perhaps, is that the silhouettes tend to similarity of appearance, boxlike, angular, on end or festooned, with seldom a curved line to break the sterility. But this, like slimming, requires pains, or even a venture into nuclear weapons.

One world is in the making along one phase of human endeavour at least. Possibly it does, frequently as part of mobilization exercises, the corps reserves report to mobilization centres near their homes. If they are infantry, they are armed and equipped ready for action, in a matter of hours. For armored troops, tanks are kept in instant readiness by maintenance crews.

The system gives Sweden a permanently available war force of three-quarters of a million men for a fraction of what it would cost to maintain a full-scale regular army.

Economical use of defence resources goes further. Visitors may notice that the telegraph poles are generally sited a clear

Sweden Steers Carefully Between Nuclear Giants

By ANDREW WILSON
From Kiruna, Sweden

WHITE smoke blending with the snowdrifts, a score of soldiers lie in wait above the road.

Some man machineguns and anti-tank weapons. Others carry explosives. From time to time they shelter their faces in their gloves against the cold.

It is 22 degrees below zero and they are below zero in the sound of engines and four lumbering shapes appear. The lieutenant gives the order: guns blast out into the night. A ski platoon sweeps down to dynamite the naked vehicles.

Before the last target has exploded, the snow troops have retreated back into the forest.

The "hot" was part of the winter training of neutral Sweden's 100,000-strong army. It took place 120 miles inside the Arctic Circle, one of Sweden's most likely invasion routes, between Russia and Norway.

For 17 hours a day there, in the long winter, it is totally dark.

I had flown up to Kiruna, the army's northern base, where a snowtrack vehicle took me out into the forests to see how Swedish Rangers (a kind of commando force) would operate deep behind the enemy's lines.

"I suppose," said a young captain, "that you'd call it Vitevagen."

The soldiers were conscripts who had volunteered for special duty. Now, after eight months' training, they thought nothing of covering 40 miles a day on their skis, fighting an action, and sleeping without cover for two or three nights in the snow.

For the next four days and nights I learned to live with Sweden's most efficient problem: how to stay armed and neutral in a world of nuclear war.

The units included Europe's last operational cavalry regiment—the Royal Norland Dragoons—whose horses in the snow can still outrun tanks and tractors in silence and speed.

For the next four days and nights I learned to live with Sweden's most efficient problem: how to stay armed and neutral in a world of nuclear war.

The units included Europe's last operational cavalry regiment—the Royal Norland Dragoons—whose horses in the snow can still outrun tanks and tractors in silence and speed.

The soldiers were conscripts who had volunteered for special duty. Now, after eight months' training, they thought nothing of covering 40 miles a day on their skis, fighting an action, and sleeping without cover for two or three nights in the snow.

Moscow Talks Boycott Virtually Declaration of War

Red Chinese Intend Adding Injury to Insult

By ROBERT S. ELEGANT, from Hong Kong

The document ended "with fraternal greetings," but it was really a bill of divorce—or even a declaration of war.

There were no new charges the Chinese Communists could bring in their letter against the Russian Communists, for they had almost exhausted the vocabulary of invective and the list of their grievances.

Instead, they informed the Russians that they would not attend the formal congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union which begins on March 29 and, in effect, read themselves out of the international communist movement as it is presently constituted.

By refusing to attend, the Chinese have not merely delivered a deadly insult to the Russians. They have formally proclaimed their conviction of stated informally, that Chinese Communism and Russian Communism have become two entirely different phenomena which cannot possibly be reconciled as long as the present Soviet leadership remains in power.

Russia, the Chinese Central Committee told the Russians in a long letter dated March 22, "used to be the centre of the international working class movement." Now, they added, "the leadership of the CPSU has become the centre of modern revisionism."

The rest of the charges supporting the Chinese decision were familiar. The Russians, the Chinese said, are allied with the United States to encircle China militarily and to thwart the international revolutionary movement. They are seeking to halt the "people's struggle" in South Viet Nam in order to placate the Americans.

Their tone more in sorrow than in anger, the Chinese noted that they had "done everything we could" to show the Russians the error of their ways, "but you have not shown the slightest repentence."

By its self-righteous demand for Russian repentence, the polemicle demonstrated the abyss that now lies between the two centres of world communism. It formally declared that there were now two such centres and that the Chinese centre would ultimately win the adherence of all "true Marxist-Leninists."

Beyond the demonstration that mystical, crusading Chinese Communism, with its dedication to "world liberation," is utterly different from pragmatic, materialistic Russian Communism, the letter also raised a practical question.

It appears that the Chinese will now be even less cooperative than they have in the past to the movement of Russian supplies across China to North Viet Nam.

They have two purposes in mind:

First, they hope to force the Russians either to abandon what China considers a mere pretense of assisting North Viet Nam or, alternately, to risk a confrontation with the United States by increasing deliveries along the sea routes.

Second, they hope to force the North Vietnamese to a public choice between themselves and the Russians.

Despite their dependence upon the Chinese and the slightly pro-Chinese balance in their political bureau, the North Vietnamese have carefully refrained from coming out for either side in the Sino-Soviet quarrel.

They are already committed to attend the 23rd congress, having publicly accepted an invitation when Alexander Shelepin was in Hanoi at the beginning of the year.

Indeed, the Chinese, at first glance, appear to have isolated themselves completely. Only Australia, New Zealand and China among all the communist parties of the world have rejected the Russian invitation.

But the Chinese are undoubtedly playing for big stakes in forcing the showdown. Peking apparently reasons that North Viet Nam will, in the coming half-year, be forced to acknowledge that Russian aid is unsatisfactory, while the Chinese are their only staunch allies in their "liberation struggle."

Having so often proclaimed that Viet Nam is the "focus of the liberation movement" the Chinese undoubtedly hope to demonstrate in that country that they alone are the leaders of "true Marxism-Leninism."

They unquestionably believe that the rest of the "liberation hungry forces" of the world will then flock to accept their leadership and that China will become in fact what she already claims to be—the sole centre of the authentic, revolutionary Marxist-Leninist movement.

Jury Notes 'Inexperience'

A 22-year-old Port Renfrew man died because of the "ordinary negligence" of driver Donald Ivan Greenside, a coroner's jury found Monday.

Wayne Gordon Gallagher was killed on a private road near Port Renfrew, March 12, when he fell out of Mr. Greenside's car and the car rolled and crushed him.

Bringing in a verdict of accidental death the jury said Mr. Greenside showed negligence "through his inexperience in driving his auto."

Ronning

Canada's soundings on the possibilities of Viet Nam peace negotiations are regarded as potentially the most important in the country's diplomatic history.

Certainly Ottawa looks on them as the most delicate in temporary. He is scheduled to be available to give any details leaked out which might jeopardize the initiative.

Chester Roming, the 71-year-old Chinese-speaking diplomat, brought out of retirement for a special mission to Hanoi and Saigon, has returned to his home at Carbone, Alta. But his trip home is only not a word about any of these talks has been made public. Mr. Ronning was a member of Canada's delegations to the Geneva conferences of 1954 and 1961-62. The former ended the eight-year civil war in Indo-China between French forces and Communist Vietminh and established the Canada-India-Poland truce commissions in Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. The latter dealt with the neutrality of Laos.

There are no current plans for another mission by Mr. Ronning.

Roosevelt, Truman, And Now—

U.S. Liberals at War With LBJ and Humphrey

By ROBERT THOMPSON From Washington

have become part of the American system. But they have lagged behind the majority of Americans in facing the realities of Communist intent.

Out of a confused idealism, professional Liberals rarely have demonstrated as much agitation over Communist dictatorship as they have over right-wing dictatorship.

That coup was attributable in part to Johnson's achievements in the socio-economic field. But it also was due to the Republican candidacy of Barry Goldwater, the grand ogre of liberalism.

Now, 17 months after that election, the Liberals are once more at war with Johnson. What is even more startling, they also are at war with Vice-President Hubert Humphrey.

Among the purists of liberalism, Humphrey now is regarded as a Benedict Arnold because his evangelistic fervor is channeled in support of the president's stand in Viet Nam.

Johnson, of course, never has talked the language of professional liberalism. He has, however, been responsible for obtaining legislative enactment of many of their most cherished goals in the domestic arena.

But he is a brusque, pragmatic activist who places much greater stock in doing than in theorizing. He is too practical a power politician to ever gain much hold on the affections of eastern Liberals.

Moreover, the president has firmly committed America to military defense of South Viet Nam. Therein lies the real crux of the Liberal defeat.

Throughout recent decades ideological Liberals have kept many steps ahead of the rest of the nation in advocating domestic reforms which ultimately measures taken to prevent even the most remote dangers, uncertainty and doubt remain.

Termination of atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons by the great powers brought worldwide relief, yet uncertainty remains whether the debris in the atmosphere and on the ground does not still contain dangers for future generations.

In the meantime, the battle continues for increased limitations on the nuclear age. The struggle is most apparent in Geneva at the 17-country disarmament conference.

Doctors Sign Medicare Pact

QUEBEC CITY (UPI)—The first contract ever to be signed in North America between a government and doctors other than civil servants has been signed by the Quebec government and medical professor, Health Minister Eric Kierans announced Thursday. The agreement covers rates to be charged for medical and surgical care given under a temporary program of medical aid to 340,000 indigents receiving welfare payments.

The U.S. has assured the Soviet Union it would be ready to agree that under no circumstances would a non-nuclear power—which would include Germany—be given the right or the ability to fire a nuclear weapon without the concurrent decision of the nuclear power.

That won't satisfy the Russians, who want the Americans to help nail down firmly all of Germany's nuclear ambitions. This could lead to a dramatic realignment of the European power balance.

Now Lord Chalfont, Britain's disarmament minister, is off to Moscow to see whether he can achieve more in bilateral persuasion than seems obtainable in the multilateral talks at Geneva.

And while the big powers bicker and argue, strange deep-sea machinery grapples with the task of attempting to bring the American hydrogen bomb to the surface.

The H-Bomb Talk, Talk While Mankind Trembles

By HAROLD MORRISON From London

Sir Solly Zuckerman, Britain's chief scientific adviser, estimates if all the destruction Britain suffered during the Second World War could be concentrated in one place and in one moment of time, the terrible devastation would be less than that caused by the explosion of a single hydrogen bomb.

The great power of the nuclear age, still carrying with it grave elements of mystery and uncertainty, explains the anguish felt by much of mankind after the loss of a United States hydrogen weapon off the Spanish coast last January.

Measures to scrap the topsoil from the Polomares coastline and seal it in metal barrels for burial in off American shores is perhaps indicative of the prolonged dangers that can result from the most minute sprinkling of radioactive dust.

Despite all assurances and measures taken to prevent even the most remote dangers, uncertainty and doubt remain.

A meeting of Mr. Martin and the foreign ministers of India and Poland still is a possibility.

The present feeling in Ottawa is that India and Poland don't regard the present time as auspicious for the summoning of another Geneva meeting.

But "Operation Delicate" is continuing, with Canadian officials optimistic that it will yield results in the long, if not the short, run.

Save Uncomplimentary Notes, Jury Told

OTTAWA (CP) — Charges of unfair tactics by the Crown and a judicial admonition to jurors to report anyone getting in touch with them marked a new stage in the Raymond Denis trial Thursday.

Defence Counsel Louis Assaly said he was "shocked, astounded and infuriated" at the conduct of the Crown, in an outburst over the questioning of a witness, Montreal salesman Guy Masson.

GIVE TO SHERIFF

"If you should get any communications, written or verbal, I would ask you to bring them in and hand them to the sheriff, being careful not to smudge any latent fingerprints."

The testimony of Mr. Masson centred on a meeting with Denis in Hull, Que., June 22, 1964, and certain events preceding it, including an encounter between Masson, Robert Gignac, Eddie Lechasseur and Marie Rivard. Denis is charged with corruptly offering a sum of money about events which occurred outside Denis' presence. The trial started Feb. 14.

Mr. Masson told of driving to Hull from Montreal with Gignac, his boss, to see Denis, as a result of the meeting with Gignac, Lechasseur and Mrs. Rivard.

Mr. Lamontagne has testified Denis relayed an offer of $20,000 July 14, 1964, and he refused it.

EXECUTIVE AIDE

Denis then was executive assistant to the federal immigration minister and Mr. Lamontagne was lawyer for the United States government which was trying to have Rivard extradited to stand trial in the U.S.

The defence protested Thursday against any testimony being placed before the trial outside events which occurred outside Denis' presence.

When Assistant Crown Attorney Robert Vincent asked whether Mr. Masson received anything before going to Hull, Mr. Assaly protested heatedly.

Mr. Vincent asked why Mr. Masson arranged the meeting with Denis, and again Mr. Assaly objected.

After delivering his "save-it-for-the-jury" remark, Judge Contell told the jurors the trial related solely to whether Denis offered a bribe. The court wasn't concerned with things connected only with the Rivard case.

Mr. Masson testified he told Denis in their motel room meeting that Gignac and Mrs. Rivard wanted to know the chances of Rivard being extra-

Premature Septuplets Still-Born

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — A young Belgian woman gave birth Wednesday night to seven still-born babies, hospital officials here said Thursday.

The parents were first told by doctors that quadruplets were expected. Later X-rays showed quintuplets were on the way, doctors said.

Instead, septuplets were prematurely born, after 8½ months of pregnancy.

The names of the parents, said by hospital sources to be members of a prominent Belgian family, were withheld.

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Wilson, riding high on the election trail, received a modest comeback against the Labor party's massive lead in the marginals.

A public opinion poll reported London and the southeast area.

The March 31 general election must be decided in the marginals.

Wilson, following a major Tory recovery was coming too late.

The opinion poll, conducted between March 16 and 21, indicated Labor's lead in the marginals had been reduced by four percentage points to 3.7 within three weeks.

Wilson's lead in the marginals is in anxious analysis by politicians.

Victim Big Man In Drugs

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Robert Henry MacLaughlin, found shot to death with his wife, was described by police Thursday as an underworld executive in Greater Vancouver's illicit narcotics racket and may have been the victim of a gangland slaying.

Police said MacLaughlin, a former Alberta doctor, was believed to be near the top of one of the three major rings which last year were supplying heroin to addicts.

CHARGED

They said, however, he was not regarded as the top man in the ring, believed to obtain his heroin from Hong Kong.

MacLaughlin, 72, and his wife of a few weeks, Margaret Ann, 48, were due to appear in court May 25 on a charge of trafficking. The charge was laid last December after police seized $30,000 worth of heroin at the house where the MacLaughlins were found slain.

MAKE 400 CAPSULES

Police calculated the 15 ounces of heroin seized could be made into 400 capsules per ounce, which would sell for $15 each. It was one of the largest drug seizures in a decade—enough to supply Vancouver's numerous addicts for six weeks.

Police advanced then discounted a theory of a bizarre murder-suicide in the deaths. No powder burns were found on the bodies, and the weapon which killed the MacLaughlins—believed to be a .38-calibre automatic—has not been found.

NO STRUGGLE

They said there were no signs of a struggle and no signs of forced entry to the house. Both MacLaughlins were shot through the front of the head.

The slaying is believed to have occurred about midnight Monday. The bodies were discovered by Mrs. MacLaughlin's brother, identified by police as Stephen Herring.

CRIMINAL RECORD

MacLaughlin had a criminal record dating back to 1932. He was suspended by the Alberta College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1937 but was reinstated after an appeal. In 1932 he was convicted in the U.S. on narcotics charges and sentenced to a term in San Quentin Prison in California.

DEDICATED

Neighbors described Mrs. MacLaughlin, a teacher at a school for retarded children, as a dedicated and loving woman who had come under the spell of her Svengali-like husband.

Private Letters

Public Invited To Snoop

VANCOUVER (CP)—It may not be polite to read a lady's private mail, and even less polite to put it on exhibit, but a professor at the University of British Columbia is cheerfully penning to do just that.

Dr. William Gibson of the history of medicine and science department at UBC found several letters written by Florence Nightingale in a $270,000 collection of rare letters and papers which arrived at the university this week.

STRICTLY PRIVATE

"Good old Florence marked 'strictly private' at the top of each page of each letter. I feel like an eavesdropper," said Dr. Gibson.

He gave no indication what the letters deal with.

Also included in the collection is a small red chalk drawing of a chimpanzee which many experts have attributed to Rembrandt. It is in a volume written by Rembrandt's physician, Nicholas Tulp. If it is an authentic Rembrandt, it could be worth up to $10,000.

You should see the poor little thing," said Dr. Gibson. "Rembrandt, if it was Rembrandt, had to pick the saddest-looking monkey possible. He looks as if he's had five or six too many."

He said the collection is arriving in 60 tea chests. It formerly belonged to Oxford lecturer Dr. Hugh Sinclair. Money for the collection was donated by lumberman H. R. MacMillan.

Future Slum Feared

Strong protests were made to city council Thursday against a municipal decision to rezone a whole city block to allow construction of multiple-dwelling units.

The block, bounded by Hillside Avenue, Cook Street, Kings Road and Blackwood Street, is now zoned for single-dwelling use.

E. W. Jones, 2610 Cook Street, was afraid the area could deteriorate quickly if the zoning change was made and eventually turn into a slum area, bringing property values down.

Also against the change was William Paliwot, 2609 Blackwood Street.

City council decided to send the question back to the Advisory Planning Commission for another look and a report.

Ald. Robert Baird, Ald. Hugh Stephen and Ald. Clyde Savage were named alternate city members to the board of the Regional District of the Capital of B.C.

Ash Street was officially renamed Ashgrove Street. The change was made to avoid confusion with Ash Street in Saanich.

Authority was given for the purchase of a new movie screen for McPherson Playhouse. Cost: $400.

Breakfast and Bonds

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

An invitation to breakfast with Premier Bennett March 31 in Vancouver caught the investment industry by surprise Tuesday.

Mr. Bennett promised to give them a preview of a special bond issue to be made on behalf of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority. No details were available at the ministry.

The breakfast table approach is normally used to announce a new party bond issue, but as these are already at the self-imposed government limit of $256,000,000, it is not expected that the new Hydro issue will be in that form.

The betting is that with interest rates running higher than at any time since 1961, Mr. Bennett will borrow on short-term—possibly at a discount—rather than attempt a long-term placement.

The amount of the requirement, and its purpose have not been made public knowledge, but Hydro officials scoff at the idea that U.S. funds for the Columbia are running out, as has been suggested in the House by David Stupich, NDP member for Nanaimo.

The investment industry also discounts the theory that the high interest rates now available are causing a run on the 5 per cent party bonds.

No party bonds are due for redemption until September 1966, when $50,976,300 in the name of the PG Railway fall due.

The Alice Arm area is expected to be announced next weekend.

To be sold are $17,000,000 debentures carrying warrants to purchase $25,000 each on shares in the company. The remaining financing has been provided by Kenecott Copper Corporation, which controls B.C. Molybdenum and which will guarantee the new issue.

ZINC PRICE CUT

Consolidated Mining and Smelting has dropped its over-charge price for zinc from 13 cents a pound to 12½ cents in line with similar actions taken earlier this week by Imperial Smelting and Noranda Sales.

The Canadian and U.S. price remains unchanged, the Trail firm says.

BETTER YEAR SEEN

Price Brothers, the big Quebec newspaper manufacturer, expects to have a record year in 1966.

T. R. Moore, president, said the outlook was more favorable than a year ago, and that the company's expansion and modernization program would offset higher costs.

Price earned $3.43 a share in 1964.

MONEY COST RISES

The cost of money continued to rise this week when the 91 days government treasury bills sold at 98.770 for a yield of 4.99 per cent. This compared with 99.788 or 4.92 per cent a week ago.

It was the highest rate since September 1962.

JOINS BIG TEAM

Pacific Petroleums Ltd. has joined the select group of Canadian companies with sales revenues of more than $1,000,000 a week. The 1965 revenue was $54,730,798, compared with $42,438,166 in 1964.

Net profit, reported by the company, was $5,459,942 (26 cents) a new high, and was 23 per cent ahead of the 1964 total of $4,420,388 (21 cents).

Dogs Kill Baby Injure Owner

RIALTO, Calif. (UPI) — A Great Dane and a German Shepherd attacked and killed a 20-month-old boy and inflicted injuries to their owner, a woman, babysitter caring for the child, in a violent outbreak Wednesday.

Police Capt. Floyd Jones of San Bernardino said young Robert Hemstreet was playing in the back yard of a neighbor when the dogs attacked.

Mrs. Phillip House, 37, who was caring for the boy, ran to the baby and threw herself over him in a futile attempt to protect the child. She also was bitten, Jones said.

Robert's mother, arrived a short time later to pick him up and found Mrs. House hysterical and holding the baby on the living room floor. Both had their clothing badly ripped and covered with blood.

The mother, a registered nurse, called an ambulance that took the boy and Mrs. House to hospital where the child was pronounced dead on arrival.

Monster Hunters Warned Off

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Groups of Russians planning to search for a prehistoric monster said to live in a remote Siberian lake have been warned off by the Russian newspaper Sovetskaya Rossiya.

One person already has been killed on such an expedition, the newspaper says.

The monster, said to be like a giant sea serpent with a long neck and dark blue skin, was "discovered" by a local biologist in Lake Baikal in far northern Russia.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Four squad cars of deputies watched an unidentified flying object for 45 minutes Thursday night in the vicinity of Sunday night's sightings reported by more than 40 persons.

A 15-year-old caller reported the lights to the Washtenaw County sheriff's department about 8:30. The deputies, including Dexter village policeman Robert Humwill, who viewed Sunday night's lights outside of Dexter, were sent to the scene. According to Cpl. David Severance, the officers viewed the lights for about 45 minutes before they went away.

Another Sky Show for Police

The caller, Ted Graham, who Severance as "large disc-shaped lives in an East Delhi suburb with an iridescent glow and vision, described the lights to red lights on each end."

OUTDOORS with Alec Merriman

Good news for trout fishermen is that they've won a reprieve on the closing of Wolf and Council Lakes. The water board access gate to these lakes will not be closed . . . at least not for the time being.

The reprieve has been won by the efforts of the Victoria Fish and Game Club and access committee member Bob Kennedy was warmly applauded when he made the announcement at Monday's meeting.

But, fishermen and other recreationists will have to guard their access privilege carefully.

The two lakes—bottoms and all—are owned by the Kapoor Company which is controlled jointly by the Mayo Company and the Kapoor interests looked after by two sisters in India.

It was the sisters who visited here last year who ordered the closing of the lakes to the public after they saw evidence of campfires on a huge sawdust pile at the lakeshore and some rubbish left by campers and picnickers.

The water board didn't want to shut the gate, but was bound to by an agreement with the Kapoor Company in exchange for certain rights. Mayo didn't want to close the area. The sisters did, and they had the final say. One ace-in-the-hole was that there is a gazetted access to Council Lake and highways department officials indicated they would look favorably upon building an access road, if other access routes were barred.

Now, after meeting with Fish and Game Club representatives, forest consultant Frank Rainsford, who manages the area for Kapoor, says the matter has been re-considered and as it stands now the closure won't be established.

But he suggests that the fish and game club and other users could do something about cleaning up the area and even plant clover over the sawdust pile. If recreationists showed an interest it might make a favorable impression upon the Kapoor sisters who will make another visit in April, he indicated.

Council and Wolf Lakes are on the edge of Victoria Water Board property, reached from the Shawinigan Lake cutoff, driving nearly to Leechtown and taking a main water board road on the left, keeping straight ahead and left at the water board gate for Council and keeping right and right again at another water board gate for Wolf Lake. They are both good trout fishing lakes, stocked by the fish and wildlife branch, and also have become increasingly popular with Sunday picnickers.

Those who like to use these lakes should realize the fish and game club has won them access privileges.

They can show their appreciation by joining the fish and game club which has its headquarters at Stan William's Hunting and Fishing, 1228 Government. Since the fish and game clubs led the fight, and won, full public access to forest lands, membership has ironically dropped because "sportsmen" no longer have to be fish and game club members to gain access. Membership automatically carries a $100,000 liability insurance policy for individual members.

While on the subject of trout . . . now is the time to get up and at them. This week's warm weather is just what is needed, and let's just forget about last weekend . . .

Trout are taking the fly in Cowichan Lake's Marble Bay, both trolled and cast and are also taking spoons and lake trolls along the shore of Peter Edward's Cedars Resort. Bait fishermen have been doing well at Shawinigan and now is time for fly fishing at south end. Somenos, Qualicum, Fuller and Dougan are getting better each week and all lakes in lower levels are worth a try. Cowichan River is producing trout along its full length.

Mid-week most rivers were ideal for steelheading, but some may be low and require more fishing skill by the weekend. Murray Cree reports that Quallum Rivers were "producing steelhead like crazy." Salmon River has been slow, but what fish have been taken have been big. Bob Davidson and Frank Dingwall both hit and lost steelhead in the 20-pound class.

Salmon fishing has been slow, mostly because of weather. Blubacks in Saanich Inlet, in the Semanis Island, Indian Bay, Willis Point and Goldstream Island waters has been the big interest. Roy Smith hit a 17-pounder in Ted Tod Inlet Sunday which may be the forerunner of the April run of springers.

Sidney Spit, James Island, and Tood Island have been producing springers.

February Victoria-Saanich Inlet trophy winner was Frank Beattie with a 23-pounder weighed at Gibbons. Wyn Kusk took women's prize with an 11-1 pounder and Audrey Stewart junior prize with a 4-10 pounder.

Highest weight winners were Barney Hope, Ted Hunt, Bill Hollick and L. Nelson.

Monday night Victoria Fish and Game Club fishing chapter will meet at the Burnside forestry lab for an evening of fly-tying under guiding hand of Ted Davis. It won't be just a demonstration. Members will have the opportunity of trying their hand at it. There will also be a discussion period on lake fishing.

Victoria Outboard Club kicks off its season April 15 at Club Soho with a big launching party and dance with anybody interested in boating invited to come along.

Bolt Much the Best

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Tommy Bolt left his temper at home and shot a six-under-par 66 Thursday for a one-stroke lead after the first round of the $82,000 Jacksonville open golf tournament.

Bolt, a mellowing 47 and no longer a regular on the tour, carded seven birdies early in the day before gusty winds began bothering the late starters.

He missed only two greens on the 6,804-yard Selva Marina course and scrambled to a jar on one of those.

Gary Brewer Jr., hottest pro on the tour, and Ed Furgol were one stroke behind at 67.

TWO BEAT PAR

The favorites played in the afternoon round and only Miller Barber and Jack Rule, both with 68s, were under par or better.

Jack Nicklaus shot a 70. U.S. Open champ Gary Player had a 72, and PGA champ Dave Marr carded a 74.

Two of the younger golf tourists—Dave Hall, 28, of Evergreen, Colo., and Dave Stockton, 24, of San Bernardino, Calif.—shot 69s.

Thirty-six of the 144 starters beat par 72, leaving the battle for the $13,500 first prize at Sunday's finish wide open.

Canada Captures World Curling

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Ron Northcott rink of Calgary defeated the Chuck Hay rink of Perth, Scotland, 12-5 Thursday night to regain the Scotch Cup, emblem of the international curling championship.

Northcott went through the four-day tournament undefeated, piling up lopsided scores along the way.

It was the seventh Canadian world curling championship in the eight years the event has been held. The United States rink of Bud Somerville from Wisconsin defeated Terry Brausen of Winnipeg in the final last year.

The Northcott rink entered the final on the strength of a 15-6 victory over Lars Dracke of Sweden in an afternoon semifinal.

U.S. BEATEN

Hay defeated Dr. Joe Zbancik of the United States 14-7 in the other semi-final.

Canada sewed up the final in the seventh end when the rink of Northcott, vice-skip George Fink, second Bernie Sparks and lead Fred Storey, scored a three to make the score 9-3.

The chain-smoking Hay, who suffered only one other defeat in the tournament—16-8 to Canada, played gamely to the end and drew cheers from the crowd of about 4,500. But he didn't have a hope as he was let down frequently by his front end.

LITTLE CHANCE

In the Scotland-U.S. battle earlier Thursday, Hay was given little chance against Dr. Zbancik because the Americans' knockout game was believed better suited to the slow, heavy ice of the Forum here.

The ice, however, was better than in most previous rounds when the heavy glare of floodlights over the ends of the sheets made the draw game difficult.

MISSING ALL FOUR

Dr. Zbancik, the outspoken Moorhead, Minn., dentist who believed until the last that his rink would win it all, missed all four shots on the seventh and eighth ends as the Scots scored a two and a side another two to overcome a 6-5 U.S. lead.

Dr. Zbancik throws third rocks and calls the shots on the U.S. rink.

Bruce Roberts, who throws last rock for the U.S., missed both of his shots in the seventh as Hay drew in to the eighth-foot for his second point.

Soccer Replay Sunday

Oak Bay Optimists were their protest of the Division Two Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association final with Canadian Scottish and the game will be replayed Sunday.

Canadian Scottish won, 2-0, in overtime and Oak Bay claimed the referee allowed too much time.

The replay will be held at 12:30 p.m. Sunday at Reynolds Road Park.

Cup Rugby

Final game of the Barnard Cup series for the playoff championship of the Victoria Rugby Union will be played at Macdonald Park tomorrow starting at 2:30.

James Bay Athletic Association take a six-point lead into the second game of the total-point series, having defeated Oak Bay Wanderers, 6-3, in the first game.

For Soccer Promoters

Big League or Nothing

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Plans for a 10 - team North American Soccer League with a 1968 date target were disclosed Thursday by owner Arthur C. Allyn of the Chicago White Sox.

Allyn, who would field a soccer team in White Sox park at Chicago, said the league still was in the talking stage but

Lacrosse Sign-Ups Starting

Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association will hold its registration for the 1965 season at Stevenson Park, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. starting at 10. Any players between ages 10 and 18 years of age interested in playing are invited to register.

A second registration will be held next Thursday at 5:30 p.m. for Saanich residents at Hampton Park and for Oak Bay youngsters at Camarvon Park.

Zbancik missed both shots in the eighth and only Roberts' double takeout on last rock prevented the Scots from stealing four.

Northcott, George Fink, Bernie Sparks and Fred Storey stole two on the first and second ends and ones on the third throughout the seventh ends against the Swedes.

Ole Geltz, who throws last rocks and calls shots for Dracke, missed takeouts, draws and attempts at raising his own rock on last-shot bids in each of the first seven ends.

At that point, the Canadians were up 9-0 and out of reach.

"The ice was good in the middle ends but it was slow again from the tenth to the 12th ends," said Fink, the Canadian third.

Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks both missed great chances last night in their struggle for the National Hockey League championship.

Both were stopped by fine goaltending. Canadiens losing at home to Johnny Bower and the Toronto Maple Leafs, 6-2, and the Hawks going under, 13-10, the Bruins in Boston, where Ed Johnston was often spectacular after taking over from rookies.

Bernie Parent in the second period.

Johnston was the difference after getting into the game when Parent twisted an ankle making a stop on Bobby Hull.

Hawks, who came out of the first period with a 1-1 tie, poured 19 shots at the Boston goalkeeper while limiting the Bruins to seven in the second period. But Johnston stopped everything and rookie Wayne Rivers and John MacKenzie got pucks past Glenn Hall.

Rivers and John MacKenzie got pucks past Glenn Hall.

Hull drew and assist on Stan

Mikita's first period goal. It was his 94th point of the year, within two of the NHL record of 96 set by Dickie Moore.

Both Mikita and Hull figured in second-period injuries. Mikita was injured when sent into the boards by Don Awrey and Hull's stick inflicted a nine-stitch gash inside rookie Gilles Marotte's mouth when the two jostled in front of the Boston goal.

Victory moved the Bruins, who have a game in hand, within two points of the fifth-place New York Rangers.

Toronto played without defenceman Kent Douglas, serving the first game of a two-game suspension, and Al Stanley, out with a bad knee, but Al Arbour filled in well on defence and Bower was superb.

MORE SPORTS

Canadiens outshot the Leafs, 25-8, in the first two periods but came out of them with nothing better than a scoreless stalemate. Bower was particularly brilliant on a breakaway try by Claude Provost and the rebound attempt by Jean Beliveau, and when he wasn't stopping Canadiens, Arbour was down to block almost as many shots as his goalkeeper.

It didn't break until the 17th minute of the third period, when Dave Keon's scoring shot was allowed despite bitter protests by Canadiens, who claimed offside.

SECOND GOAL

Frank Mahovlich got the second goal in the last minute, breaking away from an all-out Montreal attack.

It was the third shutout of the season for Bower, and the third time the Leafs had blanked Canadiens on Montreal ice this season.

Result moved the Toronto club three points ahead of the fourth-place Detroit Red Wings and within six points of the second-place Hawks with two games in hand on both clubs.

Flood of Imports For 1966 Lions

VANCOUVER — B.C. Lions are making certain there won't be any of the complacency which many feel was mainly responsible for the 1964 Grey Cup champions failing to make the next year's playoffs.

The Lions have now signed 12 new import players and are said to have more signings to announce.

THREE MORE

Three more newcomers joined the fold this week: defensive halfback Jon Drake of Parsons College in Iowa and Charlie Barnes of Northeast Louisiana College and Chick Grimes, a defensive-halfback and quarterback, both from Georgia Tech.

Then there are the youngsters who made good when circumstances gave them a chance they might not have had or which would at least have been somewhat delayed.

Pit Martin, sent to the Central League by Detroit, made it when a youth movement in Boston gave him another chance.

The Bruins also found a coming star in junior-age defenceman Gilles Marotte and goalkeeper Bernie Parent and Detroit Red Wings were forced into discovering that Bert Marshall is going to be the next big thing.

And it is, and has been, the same in the American Hockey League.

Rookie Mike Walton is an NHL performer. So is Jim Pappin and fellows like Dick Gamble, Willie Marshall and Fred Glover should have been.

That's naming only a few, but it should be enough to prove that there is no real talent problem facing NHL expansion unless the six old clubs selfishly hold on to their top talent.

If they do, it will be some time before the new division franchises can be competitive on even terms with the top four old franchises. But if there is a reasonable talent concession at the start and a good draft system there will be 12 major league clubs right from the start of expansion.

There will, of course, be a drop in calibre but it will hardly be noticed and it won't last for long. Shared equally, there is enough hockey talent around to staff 12 clubs which could honestly claim major rating, and with 120 new NHL jobs offering NHL salaries and pensions it won't be long before there will be other Malones wasting away in the minor leagues for want of a good chance.

newcomers signed as a possible eight end.

Competing with Barnes for a position the Lions are determined to fill with a big, rugged blocker will be Len Fritsch of Oregon State, Mel Profit of UCLA and Dave Moton of Southern California.

Other new imports signed by the Lions are tackle Wayne Foster of Washington State, halfback Ron Heller of Southern California, Fullback Bill Spicer of Wyoming, guard Bob Boyd of Sam Houston State and tackle John Nitkin of Howard Payne.

In addition, the Lions have signed two Canadian newcomers — linebacker Rudy Resko of Utah and tackle Mike Webster of Notre Dame.

Liberal Admits Shares

Strachan, McGeer Clash in Battle of Buttle

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Mines operation at Strathcona Park.

One of the wildest scenes in the current session of the legislature erupted Thursday night when Opposition Leader Strachan charged that Liberal MLA Dr. Pat McGeer was involved in the Western lake, said the NDP leader was guilty of misleading the House by suggesting this.

He said the chemical would be entirely consumed in the mining process and that none of it would enter the lake.

The hassle occurred before the end of a six-hour debate when Recreation and Conservation Minister Kiernan's salary vote was finally passed by the House.

The House exploded when Mr. Strachan retorted: "I am surprised that the member for Point Grey participated in this debate because, according to records of the company, he is not a disinterested party."

Liberal leader Ray Perrault shouted: "That's a disgraceful thing to say . . ."

Premier Bennett jumped into the fray: "I am rising as the leader of the government . . . the member for Point Grey has been attacked by the leader of the opposition in a dastardly way."

the parks policy from the year 1952 to 1966.

He reiterated his stand that copper sulphate will not enter the lake, if any does get into the lake it will not harm the fish and if any gets into the lake "and we found it detrimental then the method would have to be changed."

Dr. McGeer, who has opposed the idea of allowing mining inside B.C.'s provincial parks and who voted against the new Parks Act last year, said outside the House he assumed that what Mr. Strachan was referring to was the fact that "I am a very minor shareholder" in Western Mines.

He said in the House: "I'm opposed to mining in parks. When I rose to defend the government, allowing tailings in the lake it was on a point of scientific information, not of opinion."

Are We Too Hick for Herman?

Oratorical Finals Tonight

City finals in the Golden Gavel public speaking competition will be heard in St. John's Ambulance headquarters auditorium, 841 Pandora Avenue, at 8 p.m. today.

Since the start of the competition the original 34 contestants have been whittled down to eight who will be heard tonight.

Pioneers Seek Medals

Commemorative medallions to honor Canadian pioneers are creating wide interest throughout British Columbia and the B.C. committee is processing applications.

Monte Roberts at B.C. Centennial Committee headquarters could give no idea of how many applications there had been.

"There are 393 local committees and the applications from the pioneers have gone to them," he said. "The results are only just being processed."

A pioneer is defined as any person who was either born in Canada or a resident of Canada before Jan. 1, 1892.

It is not necessary that such a person have continuous residence in Canada since that date.

VICTORIA MEMORIAL ARENA

By TONY DILLON-DAVIS
Steven Powell, a man often behind the scenes when a big rock and roll show comes to town, has been mulling over a problem for the last two years. He still hasn't found the answer.

His big question is this: Why won't Victorians support top imported talent?

"The young people talk a lot about how much they want top acts to come to Victoria, but when it comes to forking out a little money, they're nowhere in sight," he said Wednesday. He said tickets for a Herman's show in the arena would cost about $5 each.

A rumor has been going around that Herman's Hermits and Paul Revere and the Raiders will be coming but Mr. Powell says that according to his bus business contacts they are definitely not coming.

"Until local young people show they are going to support outside groups, we won't get top-name acts like Herman's Hermits.

HICK TOWN

"Outside promoters who would be the ones to bring in top acts are beginning to think that Victoria is just another hick town, and it really isn't."

Monte Roberts at B.C. Centennial Committee headquarters could give no idea of how many applications there had been.

"There are 393 local committees and the applications from the pioneers have gone to them," he said. "The results are only just being processed."

Sharp Will Brake Payments Deficit

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Sharp told the Commons Thursday he intends to introduce measures in his budget next Tuesday to improve Canada's balance of payments situation.

But in the tradition of pre-budget secrecy, the minister gave the Commons no hint of which way he proposes to move.

The balance of payments deficit rose to $1,135,000,000 last year from $433,000,000 in 1964, mainly as the result of higher imports from the United States and reduced exports to other countries.

GUIDELINES

J. Waldo Monteith (PC—Perth) asked Mr. Sharp about this in the Commons, putting the blame on U.S. guidelines restricting American investment in Canada.

Mr. Sharp said the guidelines had little to do with the deficit in the balance of payments, but the government was worried about the size of the deficit, "particularly if it showed signs of becoming excessive."

Peace Rally May Draw Big Crowd

Victoria Peace Action League has predicted large crowds at the front of the legislative buildings Saturday for a two-hour peace rally.

Chief speaker at the 2 p.m. rally will be Dr. J. H. Lindsay of Vancouver, former medical health officer for Trail. He will discuss Canadian aid for Viet Nam civilians.

Among other speakers will be social worker W. Lawson, who latest peace offensive" and will comment on "Johnson's Fred Bevis of the NDP, who will speak on "Canada's Role on the International Control Commission."

"It is related directly, of course, to the prosperity in our country, because Canada has a tendency to import—machinery, particularly—in a period of very rapid expansion, such as the one through which we are proceeding.

TAX CHANGES

"In my budget, I intend to have something to say about this matter. I think the measures I will be proposing then will do something to improve our balance of payments situation."

Two courses appear to be open to the minister, economists here say. One is to put dampers on the economy to the extent of discouraging capital equipment purchases from the

Birth Control Pills Being Sold Illegally

OTTAWA (CP)—Birth control pills are being sold illegally without doctors' prescriptions by some druggists in Montreal, the Commons health committee was told Thursday.

Dr. Maurice Jobin, a Montreal physician and member of the Montreal Family Planning Association, said:

"There are a lot of young people who are buying pills without prescription. I also hear many reports of under-the-counter sales of pills in other parts of Canada."

PRIVATE BILLS

Dr. Jobin was testifying on behalf of the Family Planning Federation of Canada which has proposed an amendment to the Criminal Code making legal the sale of contraceptives.

"Contraception should be part of total sexual education for the young."

Such sexual education, to teach young people responsible attitudes, was at present "very inefficient in North America" and needed to be greatly improved.

Dr. Jobin also told the committee he would prescribe birth control pills for single, adult women, if they asked him for them.

Man Drops To Death From Plane

HALIFAX (CP)—Fit. Sgt. Robert William Major, 44, a native of Vancouver, Thursday fell to his death through the hatch of an RCAF Argus aircraft on a routine training flight over the Bay of Fundy.

Cause of the accident was not immediately known. Fit. Sgt. Major was married with two children.

Parole Offered If Guilt Admitted

By STANLEY KNOWLES, MP

OTTAWA — I am absolutely convinced that Steven Truscott is innocent of the murder of Lynne Harper.

He is as innocent as anyone who reads this story. And I don't mean innocent in a legal sense — that is that he can't be proved guilty.

Steven Truscott could not possibly have committed the murder for which he is serving a life sentence.

As we talked in the warden's office, I asked Steven if he had any questions to ask me.

CHANCES GOOD

"Just one," he replied. "What do you think of the chances of a public inquiry into my case?"

I replied that I didn't want to give him false hope, but said they were good.

I told him I couldn't predict the outcome of such an inquiry.

"I'm not worried about that," he replied. "I know that if there is an inquiry, it will prove that I am innocent."

Several times, while we discussed his life since he was convicted seven years ago of the sex-killing of 12-year-old Lynne Harper, he said: "I know I didn't do it."

And later: "Mr. Knowles, it doesn't matter what they do or say to me, how they may try to hurt me, or offers they may make to me. I can't say I did it because I know I didn't do it."

I asked him what "offers" had been made to him.

The offer of parole, if I admit guilt," he replied.

Truscott does not want parole unless he is also completely cleared of his murder conviction.

But a psychiatrist told him several times: "Either you have to convince me you are innocent, or you have to admit you are guilty."

NO ALTERNATIVE

Truscott told me: "I tried to convince him I am innocent, but I couldn't seem to do it."

"He gave me no alternative, but to admit that I am guilty. I can't do that because I know I am not."

Parole was hinged to such an admission. Truscott was told the recommendation of the psychiatrist would have a major bearing on the granting of parole.

OLD FILES

"Did this upset you?" I asked Truscott.

"I asked my parents to request another psychiatrist to deal with me," he replied.

"Different ones have seen me since then, but they all start with the same old background files."

It was also suggested to him that he take truth serums. He did this.

SAME STORY

Under the drugs, Truscott said, he told the same story as he had told all along about his innocence.

"I know what I said under the drugs," Truscott told me.

Truscott, about 5-ft. 11-in., is slim, darkish complexion, black hair, in good health.

Soft-spoken and pleasant, he did not hesitate to answer any question I put to him.

HAS NOT READ BOOK

Truscott has not read the book by Isobel LeBourdais. The Trial of Steven Truscott, which calls for a Royal Commission to probe a miscarriage of justice.

His brother brought him a copy of the book, but, according to the prison rules, it had to be referred to the warden for a decision on whether or not Truscott should be allowed to read it.

So far, the warden has said, "No."

CONFIDENT

His own hope for freedom, he knows, lies in a public inquiry into the case. And requests for such an inquiry continue to increase.

He is confident that he will be freed and cleared.

"I have never given up hope."

NOT SURPRISED

"Oh, no," he replied. "Of course not. But I had no notion that the police thought I was involved."

Truscott had completed Grade 7 of his education when he was convicted.

Since then, he had completed Grades 8 and 9 by correspondence, and is now doing Grade 10.

SKILLED MECHANIC

In addition, he has become a skilled mechanic in the machine shop, and also is in charge of the mechanical equipment in the kitchen.

I asked him what he would do if he got out.

He replied that he had already been offered a job that would make use of his skills as a maintenance man.

You know, I am not making my appeal for this boy as a sentimental sob-sister.

I believe as Mrs. LeBourdais does, that it would be utterly impossible for this lad, after seven years to maintain a front, a pose.

NO INCONSISTENCY

The story says interrogation of Truscott the night of his arrest lasted nine hours. The last three of these, the paper says, Truscott faced Dr. Addison alone.

"We couldn't get anything out of him," the paper quotes the doctor as saying. "We finally got a statement but it rambled and didn't make any sense."

The doctor is quoted as saying:

"Some people think I should not have used that line of questioning. They call it police tactics."

MUST BE INQUIRY

It is a crime that he should be kept in a prison. There must be a judicial inquiry.

PAROLE SOUGHT

Truscott has twice applied for parole.

In 1963, his application was deferred for two years.

In 1965, he asked what had happened to the deferment and has not yet had a reply.

But never has he accepted the idea of a parole without being cleared of the murder conviction.

No.

"Well, I was acting as a policeman."

PRISON INTERVIEWS

a judicial inquiry into the said during an interview at the Steven Truscott case.

"I have my case down cold," he told the Kingston Whig-Standard in an interview in which he said he would welcome such an inquiry.

Dr. Scott was the psychiatrist who interviewed Steven Truscott, a 21-year-old prisoner in Colling Bay penitentiary.

Truscott was sentenced to life imprisonment for the 1959 slaying of a 12-year-old Oshawa, Ont., girl. He was then 14 years old.

MUST KNOW FACTS

He said that as a psychiatrist he gives an opinion to the parole board based on whether the prisoner is ready to handle parole.

"Every effort must be made in each case to get to know all the facts," Dr. Scott said. "Unless I understand the dynamics of the offence, how can I make any recommendations?"

STRICTLY FALSE

He said any allegation that he alone had the final say in whether a prisoner was paroled was strictly false.

"The only guy who is going to be hurt by all this publicity is Steven Truscott, and this is patently true," Dr. Scott there seemed to be no escape from the compounding of errors.

The worst initial mistake was the usual assumption that the last person to have seen the murdered person alive must have had something to do with it.

It Was Love, Gerda Recalls

BONN (TNS) — Gerda Munisinger, in the first chapter of her serialized life story, says she loved former Associate Defence Minister Pierre Sevigny and the days ahead will be tough for them both.

Her copyrighted story, sold for $45,000, appeared in the Neue Illustrierte, a West German weekly magazine.

Gerda was the centre of a sensational explosion in the Canadian House of Commons two weeks ago when Justice Minister Lucien Cardin alleged outside the House at least two former Tory Cabinet Ministers had known her.

Panties

He suggested that Opposition leader Diefenbaker, when Prime Minister, had handled a potential sex-security case sloppily. At the time he spoke Gerda was believed dead but she was later found alive in Munich.

Among the illustrations accompanying the article in Neue Illustrierte is one showing the willowy, 37-year-old blonde in nylon panties and a white wool shirt.

The first article does not detail any lengthy association with Mr. Sevigny, now residing in Montreal with his wife and family.

Gerda claims to have first met him at the Saint Andrews Ball in 1958.

Phoned

She asks that readers not condemn her for her relations with the former cabinet minister.

Talk with Pierre 'Warm and Tender'

She says she is happy to be back in Munich where she was discovered two weeks ago working as manager of a coffee shop.

The article quotes her as saying that when she realized her former relations with Mr. Sevigny were causing a scandal in Canada she decided to phone him.

She says that when she heard his voice again after four years, her knees were shaking.

Ricky'

His voice, she wrote, was warm and tender and he called her Ricky — a nickname he had for her because he had trouble saying Gerda.

She said they both had to fight their emotions in their trans-Atlantic telephone talk, shortly after the scandal broke.

He kept asking if it was really her, Gerda says in her article. He said he thought she had died.

'Be Brave'

She says that Mr. Sevigny warned her there would be tough times ahead for both of them. He told her to be brave, she says.

Gerda says when she first learned of the row in Canada she racked her brain trying to think who would cause it.

She immediately recalled, she says, a thick-necked, 200-pound meat market operator in Montreal known as Oby.

Knows All

She says he had a finger in all sorts of things and used to laugh when it was suggested he was the Mafia boss of Montreal.

She says it sends shivers up and down her spine to hear his name because Oby knows everything there is to know about her and Mr. Sevigny.

She says she wonders if it was Oby who invented the story about her supposedly dying of leukemia in East Germany. Oby, she says, has the power to turn fairy tales into reality.

Murdered

Another new revelation in the Gerda story — along with the mention of Oby — is that before she came to Canada she almost married a Dr. Gunter Prun.

His father's death and the name of his murderer, Vera Bruehne, are still featured in German scandal sheets.

Gerda says her confessions are being dictated in a Bavarian hideaway.

She is in constant fear of assassination, she says.

Once, she adds, she took the advice of convicted murderer Vera Bruehne to enjoy the pleasures of life.

After Failing 'to Bring Mother Cecilia to Her Senses'

Sister Mary Ursula Leaves Good Shepherd Shelter

By KLAUS MUENTER

Sister Mary Ursula has left the Good Shepherd Shelter, after failing to "bring Mother Cecilia to her senses."

Sister Mary Ursula said "even the poor animals are used as a front for her self-interest, vanity and conscienceless behavior."

The 70-year-old nun disclosed she and Sister Lucy have left the shelter for good, returning to St. Mary's Priory at Victoria.

* * *

Sister Mary Ursula's denunciation of Mother Cecilia Mary came after a story in Thursday's Colonist in which neighbors condemned conditions at the shelter.

In her statement, Sister Mary Ursula said: "I attest that in the 40 years of my association with Mother Cecilia Mary she has used the Sisters, her co-workers and supporters with the intent to deceive.

"There is so much to be revealed, and I only regret that I didn't speak out sooner to perhaps stop her love of power and money from growing to such gigantic proportions.

* * *

"I went to Metchosin thinking I could be of some help in bringing her to her senses and nearly lost my own in the struggle.

"I am glad now to be home at the Priory and to assist in bringing this case to public attention.

"She has strange obsessions that people have been stealing from her and lying to her."

Sister Mary Ursula is now wearing the habit of St. Gertrude the Great, Benedictine rule.

"At one time she had been prioress for five years.

Now there are five nuns left at the shelter including Mother Cecilia, who belongs to the Society of the Love of Jesus.

Most of the shelter work, according to neighbors, is being done by members of another religious group.

* * *

In the meantime, at the shelter Thursday following a Colonist story workers were busy fixing up a run for the dogs who were exercised in front of TV cameras.

Shock Cause Of Death Hearing Told

Linda Crocker died of shock probably induced by suffocation, pathologist Ross McNeely told a preliminary hearing in central magistrate's court Thursday.

Sixteen-year-old Francis Ottley Wollaston, 732 Sea Drive, is charged with capital murder in the death of seven-year-old Linda on a rocky bluff in Brentwood Feb. 10.

Dr. McNeely said the child also had a fractured skull which would have been sufficient to cause death.

"I suspect the child may have been close to death when her skull was fractured," he said.

Dr. McNeely said he performed an autopsy in Royal Jubilee Hospital Feb. 11. He said he re-

More of a Scuff

To defence counsel Lloyd McKenzie, Dr. McNeely said the stomach bruise was probably caused by a scuff rather than a kick, and that it probably happened before death.

Detective Anthony Clark, identification officer for the Saanich police, said the child lay in undergrowth, partially dead.

She was wearing a pair of white socks and a white blouse. She was lying slightly on her right side, her hair matted with blood.

Behind her head was a lunch pail with "Linda Crocker" written on the tag.

A triangular rock, six inches long, was found 12 feet, two inches from the body. The girl's shoes, a sockie and a partially

No Sign of Life

John Stunhope, 6838 Woodward Drive, told how he found Linda's body at about 6 p.m. Feb. 10.

"I bent over and felt her pulse. I put my hand on her chest but I could detect no sign of life," he said.

Mr. Stunhope said he then noticed a piece of cloth in the child's mouth.

Dr. I. F. Desbruyere then arrived and tried artificial respiration for a while, Mr. Stunhope said.

Central Saanich Constable John Gelling said he saw that the Valentine's card found near

Reunion to Mark Battalion's Trek

Old war songs will be trotted out and old scenes will be remembered as the dwindling numbers of the 67th Battalion of the Western Scots celebrate the 50th anniversary of their departure from Victoria for the First World War.

Fifty years ago today, 1,300 men of the battalion shouldered their kit and marched aboard three CPR ships in Victoria Harbor bound for Vancouver and ultimately overseas.

They had been trained hard at Willow Camp after being recruited as an infantry battalion by Lt.-Col. Lorne Ross.

When the unit arrived overseas, it was changed to a pioneer battalion once it was discovered that previous occupations of many of the ranks qualified them for tasks of army pioneer.

War took its toll of the original 1,200 men. Before the end 600 men had been killed, wounded or discharged for other reasons. About 100 men remain now, and between 60 and 70 are expected to attend a reunion banquet at the War Ampes Hall at Oak Bay Junction at 6:45 p.m. Saturday.

Bishop Lauded For 'Freedom'

Three University of Victoria professors studying in California this week wired their endorsement of Roger Bishop, head of the English department here, following recent criticism of him.

The three, now attending the University of California's Berkeley campus on assisted leave, are Michael Warren, Anthony Jenkins and Jean Kennard.

Their telegram of support they reported they have won awards totalling more than $9,000.

FREEDOM

"We feel these awards reflect the academic freedom and expression we were given in the department," they said.

Some students and faculty members in recent weeks have accused Mr. Bishop of stifling freedom of speech by his faculty members.

The message of support for Mr. Bishop had nothing to do with last week's announcement by lecturer Joan Conway that she is resigning, said the California trio.

City Gives 5 Per Cent Pay Raises

Five per cent seems to be the prevailing settlement figure in union negotiations at City Hall.

Negotiations with three big divisions of municipal staff have been completed and settlements arrived at on the five-per-cent basis.

The fourth, which comprises members of the fire department, will go to conciliation next week.

Increased assessment values and grants will cut down on the $1,300,000 increase, but to hold the line the aldermen will still have to knock off another $400,000.

A start was made on massive park department estimates Wednesday, and these will undoubtedly be on the block again today.

The budget sessions were interrupted Thursday by a regular meeting of city council.

POLICE

Police, who started out asking nine per cent for one year, settled for five per cent a year for two years.

A two-year contract settlement was worked out with the city's inside staff recently, on the basis of a five-per-cent increase for each year.

Negotiations between the representatives of the 7,400 carpenters and the 600 contractors broke down after two meetings.

The carpenters are seeking a 35-hour work week and no reduction in pay, plus an extra 30 cents an hour over two years.

Contractors have replied with no change in the 40-hour week, an extra 45 cents over three years and an elimination of union hiring, a matter settled in 1964.

Basic wage is now $3.49 an hour.

Mr. Smith accused the contractors of pressing the provincial government to bypass a conciliation board, the usual next step when a conciliation officer fails to bring the two sides together.

Mr. Carmichael has already had three sessions with each side in the dispute.

Cameras Put Crimp On Fashion Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon Johnson is finding that her role as one of the world's most-photographed women is putting something of a crimp in her fashion plans.

The first lady's new spring wardrobe features skirts 17½ to 18 inches from the floor — not exactly the "mod" 20 inches — but short enough to be in style, according to her press secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter.

But for Lady Bird Johnson there'll be none of her beloved prints — they don't photograph well. And she needs easy skirts for getting in and out of limousines and helicopters, most times with the cameras on her.

The White House doesn't like to put designer's labels on Mrs. Johnson's size 10 outfits. But Mrs. Carpenter made it clear today the first lady's clothes are strictly American. Lately, she's leaned toward two designers, Adele Simpson and Molie Paris, the latter also a favorite of Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Mrs. Johnson has not yet decided on her Easter costume, white collar and cuffs and three-quarter length sleeves.

depend on the weather in Texas, where the family is expected to spend the holidays. But she can draw on several new Molie Paris' outfitts she's recently purchased:

• A day costume of apple green silk-and-wool fabric. The long, straight coat has a belt at the waist (half-belt) at the back. The costume also includes a white dress of the same fabric in a modified smock shape with a high yoke, short sleeves, wide pockets and a low tie belt.

• A two-piece dress with a brief bias-cut white linen overblouse and brown linen skirt. The short-sleeved top has a curved seam detail, forming the neckline and sleeves. A narrow black leather tie belt completes the ensemble.

• A navy blue tussah silk one-piece day dress, slim with a low inverted pleat at the front of the skirt, long sleeves and a fine collar of grey and navy silk taffeta.

• A red dress with a matching jacket, easy skirt, white collar and cuffs and three-quarter length sleeves.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a teen-age Canadian girl who loves her country and is very proud of it.

I just returned from a visit with an aunt and uncle who moved from Canada to Nevada last year. I learned from a neighbor girl that they had introduced themselves to everyone in the community as new arrivals from London, England (instead of London, Ontario).

I asked my aunt why they did that and she said, "U.S. citizens look down on Canadians. They think we are peculiar." Then she added, "They consider the English, on the other hand, quite elegant."

I never knew this before and am terribly hurt. Please explain. — YOUR NEIGHBOR TO THE NORTH

Dear Neighbor: Don't judge all U.S. citizens by a few ignoramus. Speaking for myself, I can tell you that I have met many Canadians and I find them refreshingly wholesome and charming — particularly the teen-agers.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: My wife is worrying herself sick over something and I need your help. Yvette (not her real name) has been ill off and on for a long time. Several months ago she went to a doctor who did more for her than all the other doctors put together. Not only is she feeling fine but she is bright and cheerful for the first time in years.

Yvette wanted the doctor to know how grateful she was so she tried to hold his hand and tell him. He suddenly became very cool to her and has been that way ever since. Yvette now realizes that he misunderstood her intentions and she is sick over it.

This doctor is quite youthful and handsome and no doubt many women patients make passes at him. Yvette has never had a roving thought, much less a roving eye. She is an affectionate person who sometimes goes overboard to let people know she appreciates them. How can she get this across to the doctor so he will be friendly again? — UPSET,

I too. Dear Upset: Yvette could have expressed her appreciation without trying to hold the doctor's hand. Suggest that she restrain herself on future visits. The doctor will become friendlier when she demonstrates by her behavior that she is not after him.

Rutledge-Brennan

Bride's Gown Highlighted By Venetian Lace Train

Tall baskets of pink gladioli and pink tulips flanked the altar table at Metropolitan United Church for the double-ring ceremony uniting in marriage Colleen Beatrice Knight Brennan and Mr. Clifford Robert Rutledge. An attractive arrangement of white gladioli on the altar completed the wedding decor.

Rev. A. E. King officiated at the evening wedding for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Brennan, 2331 Howard Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Rutledge, 1729 Foul Bay Road.

Mrs. Dawn Benoit sang True Love's the Gift during signing of the register.

from a large taffeta bow at the shoulder was a sweeping train of Venetian lace edged with taffeta. The bride's headpiece of seed pearls and crystals held her illusion net veil and deep pink roses and ivy were in her cascade bouquet.

Mr. Monty Holding was best man. Ushering guests to their pews were Mr. Don Gardner, Mr. Robert Brennan, Mr. John Halton and Mr. Greg Barnes.

Centring the head table at the reception which followed in White Eagle Hall was a large cake made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. A. L. Dobie, and decorated by Mrs. William Hobday. The cake was nestled in an arrangement of white tulle trimmed with silver.

Mr. Bob Brophy of Nanaimo proposed the toast to the bride. For travelling to the mainland and to Seattle and Portland the new Mrs. Rutledge donned a green double-knit suit. She wore brown accessories and a gardenia corsage.

'Clean Up Streets'

NANAIMO — Chairman of the city's streets committee, Ald. Ted Barsby, will be invited to an advisory planning commission meeting.

Ald. Barsby will be asked to explain his committee's policy towards boulevards and street beautification.

This move was made after Earl Fletcher called for a clean-up of Crace Street.

He said "It's definitely a junk yard, just old bruised cars sitting there, many I'm sure on city property."

Commission Chairman Dr. Gordon Bell agreed with Mr. Fletcher's statement.

"Some of this junk hangs around from year to year."

"There's out and out garbage lying around," Dr. Bell said.

"I just don't want this to die in a talking session," he added.

Drinking was the downfall of 22-year-old Gustaf Engell, whose criminal record dated back to 1936.

He pleaded guilty to stealing $80 worth of goods Wednesday from Eaton's, and was jailed for six months.

SHOPPING BAG

Det. Edward Hardy said Engell, no fixed address, went from counter to counter in the store putting the items in a shopping bag. He made no attempt to pay for them.

He had a man's sweater, a sport shirt, two undershirts, 18 pairs of socks and two alarm clocks. Det. Hardy said.

FIFTEEN CENTS

Engell had 15 cents in his pocket at the time, Det. Hardy said.

Prosecutor J. W. Anderson said Engell had convictions for theft, shoplifting, vagrancy and possession of housebreaking tools.

Magistrate William Ostler observed: "You appear to have spent most of your life in jail."

Engell replied: "All through drinking."

Ervin Erle Spill, 321 Johnson, reached into a can March 4, hauled out a bottle of beer and began drinking from it in front of a policeman.

Spill pleaded guilty to drinking in a public place and was fined $50.

Robert Taylor, 1331 Jubilee, pleaded guilty to the same charge and was fined $50.

He was sitting in a car March 5 drinking beer.

Philip's Words Often Saltier

LONDON (AP) — Here comes that bloody machine again. Why don't you take the thing and stuff it up? It gets on your nerves."

The rest of Prince Philip's words were inaudible as one of his aides broke in:

"Take the bloody thing right out. You wouldn't like it if you were in his place. If you do that he will dry up."

* * *

The machine was a microphone which a television crew on his American tour pushed in front of him during a visit to a hospital in Florida. The program, "The Duke Goes West," reviewed his recent U.S. tour and was shown by the BBC Wednesday night. He completed a three-day Canadian visit to Toronto and Ottawa Wednesday and flew home.

Bloody is a mild swear word in Britain. The prince has been known to use stronger terms to express his dislike of cameramen, though not on television.

The BBC said several viewers telephoned to protest that the film should have been edited. But Desmond Wilcox, the program editor, said:

* * *

"This was in no way an anti-royal or knocking piece. We wanted to show the backstage atmosphere of the American tour."

"I feel it is totally representative of what any reporter he often uses saltier language than that."

The duke's tour for charity and to boost British exports started March 9 and has covered more than 10,000 miles.

He is due back at London airport Friday night and will hold a press conference—his first in Britain.

Surprise, Surprise!

By M. V. CHESNUT

In yesterday's column I described some of the different forms and varieties of Amaranthus represented in the first Colonist free seed offer of 1966. In the 13 years I have been giving away seeds, I believe this is the first time I have ever offered a mixture of different varieties.

I imagine the purists won't be too keen on this mixture business, for when they sow a seed, they like to know beforehand how tall the plant will grow, what shape, what color. For my money, though, a mixed bag of seeds like this holds all the thrills of a sweepstakes; you don't know what particular kinds of Amaranthus will turn up from your packet of seeds.

The luck of the draw can bring you anything from a cute little 10-inch plant called Kiss-me-over-the-garden-gate, bearing plum-colored chenille tassels, to the monster four-foot Fountain of Fire, with flaming scarlet foliage.

I pointed out earlier, the easy way to grow Amaranthus is to scatter the seeds on the ground where they are to grow, then thin them out after they come up to give each plant sufficient elbow room. The seeds are small, so it is best not to cover them at all, but scatter them very thinly on the surface and allow the rain to wash them in.

For various reasons, though, I think it is a wise move to start at least a few of your seeds indoors or under glass. For one thing, you may lose all your outdoor-sown plants through sudden storms or hungry slugs, and it is a good thing to have an ace in the hole in the form of a potful or two of indoor-started plants.

There is another reason, too, why it is a good idea to give a few of your seeds a protected start in life. It is an unfortunate fact that when your outdoor plants come up, they look suspiciously like weeds at first, and I know of more than one case where precious Amaranthus seedlings have been pulled up by mistake.

By starting a few of your seeds indoors, you get to know what the seedlings look like, and you will recognize your outdoor-sown plants when they put in an appearance.

To run over again quickly my favorite method of starting small seeds indoors, use a clay flowerpot—any reasonable size will do. Scrub it thoroughly in hot, soapy water and put an inch of gravel or small pebbles in the bottom for drainage.

Cover the stones with a layer of green moss, or with a wad of four or five thicknesses of paper towel, then put in your soil. This could be purchased potting soil, or you can make up your own, mixing equal parts sifted garden topsoil, peat moss and coarse-grained sand.

Fill to within half an inch of the pot rim, making the soil very firm and level with the fingers. Water with boiling water, applied very slowly but giving enough to saturate all the soil in the pot. Scatter your seeds very thinly on the surface and cover them with a quarter-inch layer of peat moss. Finally, stretch a sheet of plastic over the top of the pot and hold it in place with a rubber band.

Place the pot in a warm place—I have been having unusual success in germinating seeds under the light and warmth of my desk lamp—and remove the plastic wrap as soon as the first seedling appears. The germination time for Amaranthus seeds, under favorable conditions, is about five days.

Transfer to a sunny window of a cool room or to an unheated sunporch, and transplant the young plants to their outdoor position when about two inches tall. Remember, these plants must have full sun to bring out their vivid coloring.

Don't Worry Honey, But...

Notes pinned to the pillow of a mother who has flu — by a husband who has inherited the house end kids.

Monday a.m.

Sleep late. Everything under control. Lunches packed. Kids off to school. Menu for dinner planned. Your lunch is on a tray in refrigerator: fruit cup, finger sandwiches. Thermos of hot tea by bedside. See you around six.

Tuesday a.m.

Honey

Sorry about the egg rack in the refrigerator. Hope you got back to sleep. Did the kids tell you about the Coke I put in the thermoses? The school might call you on this. Dinner may be a little late. I'm doing your door-to-door canvass for liver search. Your lunch is in refrigerator. Hope you like left-over child.

Wednesday a.m.

Dear Doris:

Why in the name of all that is same would you put soap chips

- How do you turn off the milkman?
- Why would that rotten kid leave his shoes in his boots?
- How do you remove a dog linked on the palm of a small boy's hand?
- What do you do with leftovers when they begin to snap at you when you open the door?
- I don't know what you're having for lunch! Surprise me!

Thursday a.m.

Hey:

Don't panic over water in hallway. It crested last night at 9 p.m. Will finish laundry tonight. Late tonight. Driving eight Girl Guides to our meat packing house!

Friday a.m.

Don't drink from pitcher by the sink. Am trying to restore pink dress shirt to original white. Take heart. Tonight, the ironing will be folded, house cleaned and dinner on time. I called your mother.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Hope Chest Overflow$

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — One of the most pleasant rumors around town is that Bob Hope is worth $100,000,000 in real estate. It couldn't happen to a nicer guy... Judy Garland is singing better now that she has gained back some of the weight she lost.

Magda Gabor, the oldest of the sisters, has still not recovered the use of her voice—from that stroke she suffered a few years ago. Her devoted multi-millionaire husband has surrounded her with a phalanx of four, one as a bodyguard, to look after her. Money isn't everything, but it is a help when you are ill. Magda can walk and do most things. It's now just a question of her speech.

The hold-up for two Hollywood marriages concerns children. Roger Smith has three, which is why he is hesitant to marry Ann Margaret, who would drop her career tomorrow, I'm told, if the nuptials took place... And Fernando Lamas and Esther Williams, who have looked like husband and wife for the past five years, are not in a hurry to marry. Fernando told me, "because we both have children, and we don't want to confuse them." It was for this very reason that Anthony Quinn wanted to, and did, marry his Jolanda. His children were getting quite confused over his situation.

Mild-mannered former publishing executive, Saul David, has emerged as the second top producer at 20th Century Fox. The top is Robert Wise for his Sound of Music smash success. But Saul has been doing very nicely for the studio. Big return for his second, Our Man Flint. And watch out for his next, Fantastic Voyage, starring Stephen Boyd. I read a couple of installments of the story and this one has to be a smash—about a group of doctors who shrink themselves to pin-point to perform an operation on the brain from the inside. Their adventures in the human body really do constitute a fantastic voyage.

Robert Vaughn, The Man from U.N.C.L.E. who goes all over the world in his series, but never has time to leave Hollywood except during his hiatus from the show, has big plans for this summer. He will tour Russia, then make The Venetian Affair in Europe. Before or after, a brief visit with his friends, the Robert Kennedy's. Then back to Hollywood for another 10 months of going around the world on the sound stages at Metro.

The people who own the new Las Vegas hotel with the ambitious title of Caesar's Palace are doing their darndest to get the premiere of The Zero Mostel-Phill Silvers movie, Something Funny Happened On The Way To The Forum, at the hotel. Sounds like a good idea, although I can't remember anything funny happening to Caesar on the way to or back from the forum... Before his session in the hospital, Christopher Plummer was using the prettiest crutch, limping on the arm of Imogene Hassle.

Julie Andrews turned down the million dollars and the picture, Say It With Music. A question of time. She has to do Thoroughly Modern Millie at Universal, then The Gertude Story in England for her Sound of Music director, Robert Wise. Incidentally, Robert will be back in Hollywood in good time to attend the Oscar awards. People aren't even betting on him to win for Sound of Music. He's to be unanimous that he will take home the Oscar.

Sophie Loren, signing for pictures at her usual rapid pace, has decided to make Calamity Jane with Steven McQueen, not in our wild and wooly west, but in her native Italy. But not until she has finished her current, Countess From Hong Kong, then her film in Italy with Omar Sharif. And by that time her still-pending bigamy problems over her romance and marriage with Carlo Ponti should have come and gone in the Roman courts.

Mower Mastered

JACK SMITH

Astronaut Neil Armstrong, coolly pushing buttons up there in his tumbling spaceship, reminded us that we do have some control over our fate, even in this automated age.

I was faced with a similar challenge Sunday. The power mower wouldn't start.

"I had been ailing, in fact, all winter. For months I ignored it. The lawn was dormant. With the approach of spring, though, it had come to frightening life. Dandelions fought with resurgent grass for mastery of the field, thrusting their ragged banners toward the sky.

Every Sunday for three weeks the boys had gone down to the garage to start the mower. It had become a futile ritual. All things that go wrong can be fixed with a screwdriver. I checked my audience. One of the boys was digging at a tree root with a shovel. The other was putting. My wife was watering the herbs. They all pretended to ignore me.

I gave one of the bolts a three-quarter turn to the right. The second bolt I turned three-quarters to the left. The third I left alone. I yanked on the starter cord.

The mower sputtered. It spat out smoke. It faded, choked, rallied and then roared into full sweet, triumphant song. I left it running and walked back to the house, flipping the screwdriver casually in one hand. I could feel all their eyes on me, full of admiration and respect.

It starts again next week I plan to mow the lawn.

OTTAWA (CP) — The emotional content of the Commons capital punishment debate stepped up Thursday as abolitionists and retentionists tossed out Bible quotations and statistics for and against abolishing the hangman.

Blizzard Strikes Again

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — The U.S. northern midwest's second great blizzard in three weeks buffeted upper Michigan Thursday, slowing life to a crawl. The death toll mounted steadily in the midwest and wake of the savage storm. In its last blows at the United States before sweeping across the upper Great Lakes into Canada, the blizzard dumped 11 inches of snow on Marquette, Mich., closed schools through four counties, and blocked all major highways. Below zero and near-zero cold chilled midwesterners as they sought to break the shackles of towering snowdrifts that clogged highways and stranded thousands of persons. The powerful storm system claimed at least 31 lives, 17 in Nebraska alone.

Warning Device Developed

No More Mid-Air Collisions?

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — McDonnell Aircraft Corp. announced Thursday it has developed a warning device that can eliminate mid-air collisions of airplanes.

The device has been tested on McDonnell's phantom jet fighter planes and probably will be developed for use by airliners.

MINUTE'S WARNING

It provides a 60-second warning to airplanes converging at speeds of up to four times the speed of sound (640 m.p.h. at sea level) and even tells the pilots what evasive action to take to avoid a collision, a McDonnell spokesman said.

Airlines have been seeking such a system for 10 years. McDonnell claimed it is the first to develop it, and in Washington, a spokesman for the Air Transport Association of America said a collision avoidance system "is closer to realization than at any previous time."

The safety device is called EROS for Eliminate Range Zero System. It gives collision warnings to airplanes 1½ miles apart. The cockpit indicator has

Flu Fells West

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Influenza outbreaks of epidemic proportions were reported Thursday in parts of British Columbia, the Prairies, Ontario and Quebec, and five deaths have been attributed at least in part to the illness.

Most recent death was David Robert Chapman, 4½, of Calgary, who died at his home Tuesday night.

PEAK PASSED

The other deaths were all in the Vancouver area where the flu epidemic reached its peak during the week of March 7. On that date 20 per cent of the city's students and 10 per cent of the teachers were absent from school.

Meanwhile, the epidemic now has hit as far north as Prince George and the Kootenay district of B.C. where absentee rates are high and some hospitals have cancelled visiting privileges.

RESTRICT VISITS

On the Prairies, schools and businesses reported high absentee rates and visiting has been restricted at hospitals in Saskatoon, Moose Jaw and Medicine Hat in Saskatchewan.

In Calgary, the outbreak has been prevalent for about a month and Health Officer Dr. Leslie C. Allan said it is "still quite prevalent in the city and may not abate for several more days." School absenteeism is estimated as high as 30 per cent.

TWO VIRUSES

In Winnipeg, a city health department official said two different viruses—one respiratory and one gastro-intestinal—appeared to have hit the city in succession as many people were struck twice. The first peak in numbers of cases was in early March; the second was last week.

Civil Servants Call Off Strike

QUEBEC (CP) — Negotiators for Quebec's 25,000 civil servants recommended at a general meeting Thursday night that the government employees accept a final contract offer and discard plans to walk off the job at 7 a.m. today.

Marcel Pepin, president of the Quebec-based Confederation of National Trade Unions — with which the Quebec Civil Servants' Union is affiliated — said union negotiators would recommend that it be accepted.

He said the suggested two-year contract provides for a salary increase averaging $322 the first year, plus an increase of three per cent of salary the second year. Average salary for the civil servants is $54 a week. The contract would take effect April 7.

Affront Claimed

Uruguay Miffed By Royal Snub

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI) — Uruguay's Council of Government went into secret session Thursday to consider details of an "affront" to its ambassador in London, Carlos Maria Velazquez, by Queen Elizabeth.

A government spokesman said the "affront" consisted of Elizabeth's alleged refusal to take the extended hand of the envoy at a diplomatic reception.

* * *

The spokesman said it was presumed the "affront" was delivered because the envoy wore insignia related to territorial areas over the jurisdiction of which the two countries are in litigation.

The spokesman said the foreign minister had asked the ambassador for more details on the alleged rebuff.

One-Month Climb

North Wall Of Eiger Conquered

KLEINE SCHEIDECK, Switzerland (UPI) — Five members of an international alpine team became the first persons to conquer the 6,000-foot vertical north wall of the Eiger Thursday night, capping a month-long straight-up climb that claimed the life of one companion and forced seven others to turn back.

But a blinding snowstorm that swept across the barren ice fields and nearly swept the exhausted Alpinists away, forced them to turn back before reaching the summit.

The retreated back to the rim and bivouacked near the top of the icy wall which over the years has cost the lives of 27 climbers.

EASY CLIMB, NOW

Their camp was about 700 feet below the 13,000-foot summit and they waited a break in the weather to make the relatively easy climb to the top where two fellow climbers, flown in by helicopter, waited to greet them.

Five companions, including an American, turned back earlier Friday, almost within sight of victory. "We did not wish to commit suicide," said one of them, German Karl Goldkow.

Two Americans were among the 13-man team which started out to conquer the dreaded wall but neither finished.

DIED IN PLUNGE

Ex-fighter pilot John Harlin of Los Altos, Calif., was killed two days ago when a rope separated and he plunged 4,000 feet to his death. The other, Layton Kor of Boulder, Colo., was among the five men who were ordered back down the mountain during the day.

According to radio reports from the top of the wall, German Joerg Lehne and Scotsman Douglas Haston were the first to top the wall, followed closely by German Siegfried Hupfauer, Guenther Strobel and Roland Votteler.

FLEW TO SUMMIT

Two Britons, Chris Bonnington and Nick Burke, flew to the summit by helicopter to await their arrival and welcome them. But thick fog which reduced visibility to zero delayed the reunion.

The climbers reported by radio they had lost all sense of direction and would not move until the fog lifted.

LAND

Replied Mr. Kiernan: "We don't want to tell you it's absolutely 100 per cent (safe) until we know."

"If it isn't, the tailings will go on the land."

Mr. Gibson said that if, in the minister's judgment, there would be a greater return to the people from mining than from park use, the minister should "stand up in the cabinet and tell Mr. Premier that's what you're going to do."

"Western Mines is doing nothing but good for the people of this province," said Mr. Gibson.

Even Diagnosis Dangerous

Beware 'the Diseases of Medical Progress'

attention to what have become known inside medical science as "the diseases of medical progress." But they were the first to describe an actual "disease" of fatal outcome and long, stumbling duration.

* * *

They did so in a technical organ of the American Medical Association, to give point to the observation that whereas progress in medical science and practice has reduced illnesses and deaths from naturally occurring diseases, "modern standards of medical care have created an ever-increasing and diversified group of artificially induced diseases."

The "diseases" they described had its beginning when a Chinese man was admitted to the (New York) city hospital centre, a teaching hospital, because he was juridical.

* * *

He had had drug treatment for a small infection of tuberculosis. One drug diminished his hearing; the other reacted in his liver, causing the jaundice and later it was to react in a peptic ulcer. A dye was put into his veins for a liver study and there was an allergic reaction resulting in dermatitis.

At the same time a sample of liver was taken by needle for biopsy which led to a bile infection which was treated by an antibiotic which depressed the bone marrow. Meanwhile the dermatitis and its allergic cause involved the kidneys. Adrenal hormones were administered for that condition and the peptic ulcer.

The next development was a psychosis and a perforation of the ulcer. This inflamed the intestinal lining and resulted in the patient's death 76 days after his admission to the hospital. Autopsy revealed two acute ulcers in addition to the perforated one, advanced and multiple lung disease, and diseased states of liver, colon and kidneys.

On this sad course of events following the application in a teaching hospital of the best diagnostic techniques modern medicine has to offer, Drs. Seckler and Spritzer commented: "Recent studies have shown that 20 per cent of hospitalized patients at teaching institutions experienced a deleterious complication directly related to their medical care and major complications which are life-threatening or a contributing cause of death have occurred in some 5 per cent of these patients."

Idle, Troubled Youth

Home Is Where You Can't Take Somebody

By MARY TAYLOR

Last of Three Parts

PORT ALBERNI — Just what is there for the group from 17 to early 20s to do in the Twin Cities after dusk? It's reminiscent of the old vaudeville joke that "everything which is fattening, I like to do is either illegal, immoral or fattening."

They can drink, which is illegal. They can get together in cars, which is likely to end up immoral. Or they can sit in a drive-in and eat hamburgers, which is fattening. Other than that there is very little.

Perhaps a dance once a month, discounting the Teen Town dances sponsored by the Legion, and attended mostly by a younger crowd, under 18.

Basketball games, in season, are fun to watch, but there's not much chance to participate. The crowd is not too dinner-dance conscious.

Even the usual teen-type chocolate shop, where you can sip a coke or milk-shake till 11 p.m., or drop in with the crowd except a show, where you can take a girl, except an occasional dinner dance. And the late teen is not too dinner-dance conscious.

There are not many places, except a show, where you can take a girl, except an occasional dinner dance. And the late teen is not too dinner-dance conscious.

One youth worker said, "young people are harder to satisfy now. They used to turn out to all our social events, but now they're not too thrilled."

A local amateur dancing group for teens, good enough to win a B.C. championship, fell apart because of lack of interest.

Youth leaders are discouraged and frustrated. Young people feel the same way.

Youngsters who early developed an active interest in sports, church and hobby groups seldom run into bad liquor problems. They're too busy and interested in other things to let drinking become a major interest. But what if they appear to have no interests?

"It would be good if we had more things for young people run by young people," suggested one in-store enthusiast. "Something like discotheques."

"Mostly we want a place where we can sit around and talk or dance or sing with our friends. A place that isn't too expensive, and a place you can take your girl-friend that her mother won't scream about," was one answer.

It used to be that description would fit a very familiar place. It was comfortable, didn't cost much, you could sit around and sing or dance, and nobody's mother could complain because your own mother was usually in the kitchen keeping a discreet eye on the lights in the living room. Very few homes today qualify. Many are not big enough. The sprawling ten-roomed house has been replaced by the smart three-bedroom utility model, easy to maintain and pleasant to look at, but short on true living space.

And there's that problem of communication too. "I couldn't take a girl to my house," one boy complained. "I'd be so embarrassed in front of my dad. I never know what to say to him even when we're alone."

Listen to a soccer coach: "Soccer has pretty nearly become a baby-sitting service to get the kids out from under wholesome use of their leisure time, and at the same time offer enough variety so that each may also develop individual tastes and skills, would be a blessing from which the community would reap advantages for many years to come."

Water Rate Reduction Planned for Northfield

NANAIMO — Northfield can look forward to a further reduction in water rates this year.

For the first 5,000 gallons residents can expect to pay $3.60 a month, with widows and old age pensioners paying $2.15. This is a 10 per cent reduction.

ANNUAL MEETING

Tony Poje, chairman of the Northfield Fire Protection District, made the announcement at the district annual meeting.

There were 54 new water hook-ups in 1965, bringing the total to 429, and "an even greater number is shaping up for 1966," he said.

LITTLE WORRY

There is a possibility of new connections at Diver Lake where Nanaimo Realty has asked for water for a 400 lot subdivision.

"There seems a little concern on the part of the Nanaimo Water Board that there will be a lack of water in the future due to the tremendous development taking place in the north.

"But I don't believe there will be any shortage in Northfield," Mr. Poje said.

Bruce Tait, engineer for the water board, was present at the meeting.

PEAK MONTHS

He maintained the water board just lacks storage for peak periods in summer.

Reporting on sewers George Milford said the lines to Wildwood Park have now been completed, and by April 30 the Beverly subdivision should also be finished.

Hook-up charges would be $80.

FIRE TOTAL

Phil Hendrie gave the fire report, which showed Northfield Fire Department attended 23 fires in 1965, with fire loss standing at $2,075 for the year.

Wilf McLeay and Don Lightfoot were the two trustees re-elected for three year terms.

and residents would have six months to comply. If they don't, the district will have the work done, and the individual homeowner will be billed.

M.R. Milford recommended pumping out septic tanks before they are filled in.

One cause of sluggish kidneys, setting in by attack of restlessness and bladder discomfort, may be the kidney stones. This is when Dadd's Kidney Pills can help bring relief.

And later: "Mr. Knowles, it doesn't matter what they do or say to me; how they may try to hurt me, or offers they may make to me. I can't say I did it because I know I didn't do it."

OTTAWA — I am absolutely convinced that Steven Truscott is innocent of the murder of Lynne Harper.

He is as innocent as anyone who reads this story. And I don't mean innocent in a legal sense—that is that he can't be proved guilty.

Steven Truscott could not possibly have committed the murder for which he is serving a life sentence.

As we talked in the warden's office, I asked Steven if he had any questions to ask me.

CHANCES GOOD

"Just one," he replied. "What do you think of the chances of a public inquiry into my case?"

I replied that I didn't want to give him false hope, but I said they were good.

I told him I couldn't predict the outcome of such an inquiry. "I'm not worried about that," he replied. "I know that if there is an inquiry, it will prove that I am innocent."

DIDN'T DO IT

Several times, while we discussed his life since he was convicted seven years ago of the sex-killing of 12-year-old Lynne Harper, he said: "I know I didn't do it."

And later: "Mr. Knowles, it doesn't matter what they do or say to me; how they may try to hurt me, or offers they may make to me. I can't say I did it because I know I didn't do it."

I asked him what "offers" had been made to him.

ADVERTISING

The offer of parole, if I admit guilt," he replied.

Truscott does not want parole unless he is also completely cleared of his murder conviction.

But a psychiatrist told him several times: "Either you have to convince me you are innocent, or you have to admit you are guilty."

NO ALTERNATIVE

Truscott told me: "I tried to convince him I am innocent, but I couldn't seem to do it."

"He gave me no alternative, but to admit that I am guilty. I can't do that because I know I am not."

PATRONAGE WAS HINGED TO SUCH AN ADMISSION. TRUSCOTT WAS TOLD THE RECOMMENDATION OF THE PSYCHIATRIST WOULD HAVE A MAJOR bearing ON THE GRANTING OF PAROLE.

OLD FILES

"Did this upset you?" I asked Truscott.

"I asked my parents to request another psychiatrist to deal with me," he replied.

"Different ones have seen me since then, but they all start with the same old background files."

RACHE STORY

Under the drugs, Truscott said, he told the same story as he had told all along about his innocence.

"I know what I said under the drugs," Truscott told me.

Truscott, about 5-ft. 11-in., is slim, darkish complexion, black hair, in good health.

Soft-spoken and pleasant, he did not hesitate to answer any question I put him.

HAS NOT READ BOOK

Truscott has not read the book by Isabel LeBourdinis, The Trial of Steven Truscott, which calls for a Royal Commission to probe a miscarriage of justice.

His brother brought him a copy of the book, but, according to the prison rules, it had to be referred to the warden for a decision on whether or not Truscott should be allowed to read it.

So far, the warden has said, "No."

His own hope for freedom, he knows, lies in a public inquiry into the case. And requests for

Prison Psychiatrist Unworried by Probe

KINGSTON (CP) — Dr. George Scott, a prison psychiatrist, said Thursday he is not concerned over the prospect of a judicial inquiry into the Steven Truscott case.

"I have my case down cold," he told the Kingston Whig-Standard in an interview in which he said he would welcome such an inquiry.

PRISON INTERVIEWS

Dr. Scott was the psychiatrist who interviewed Steven Truscott, a 21-year-old prisoner in Colling Bay penitentiary.

Truscott was sentenced to life imprisonment for the 1959 slaying of a 12-year-old Clinton, Ont., girl. He was then 14 years old.

MUST BE INQUIRY

It is a crime that he should be kept in a prison. There must be a judicial inquiry.

STRICTLY FALSE

He said any allegation that he alone had the final say in whether a prisoner was paroled was strictly false.

"The only guy who is going to be hurt by all this publicity is Steven Truscott, and this is pathetically true," Dr. Scott such an inquiry continue to increase.

He is confident that he will be freed and cleared.

"I have never given up hope."

NOT SURPRISED

"Oh, no," he replied. "Of course not. But I had no notion that the police thought I was involved."

TRUSCOTT HAD COMPLETED GRADE 7 of his education when he was convicted.

Since then, he had completed Grades 8 and 9 by correspondence, and is now doing Grade 10.

SKILLED MECHANIC

In addition, he has become a skilled mechanic in the machine shop, and also is in charge of the mechanical equipment in the kitchen.

I asked him what he would do if he got out.

He replied that he had already been offered a job that would make use of his skills as a maintenance man.

You know, I am not making any appeal for this boy as a sentimental sob-sister.

I believe as Mrs. LeBourdinis does, that it would be utterly impossible for this lad, after seven years to maintain a front, a pose.

NO INCONSISTENCY

The story says interrogation of Truscott the night of his arrest lasted nine hours. The last three of those, the paper says, Truscott faced Dr. Addison alone.

"We couldn't get anything out of him," the paper quotes the doctor as saying. "We finally got a statement but it rambled and didn't make any sense."

PAROLE SOUGHT

Truscott has twice applied for parole.

In 1963, his application was deferred for two years.

In 1965, he asked what had happened to the deferment and has not yet had a reply.

But never has he accepted the idea of a parole without being cleared of the murder conviction.

MUST BE INQUIRY

It is a crime that he should be kept in a prison. There must be a judicial inquiry.

he said, "and I believe that I will be out."

I asked him: "Were you surprised when you were called in for questioning after the girl's disappearance?"

IF FREEDOM IS DENIED TO ONE,

IT IS DENIED TO US ALL.

WHO KNOWS IF AN INNOCENT BOY

IS DENIED HIS FREEDOM,

THE LAW IS DENIED TO ALL."

FEW MISTAKES

It appears to me that the law, faced with the necessity of finding who committed the murder, made a few initial mistakes.

Once these mistakes were made, the crime was pinned on this boy and, from then on, there seemed to be no escape from the compounding of errors.

The worst initial mistake was the usual assumption that the last person to have seen the murdered person alive must have had something to do with it.

WHO KNOWS IF AN INNOCENT BOY

IS DENIED HIS FREEDOM,

THE LAW IS DENIED TO ALL."

UNTIL PROVEN

This, perhaps, is the crucial thing in the whole story.

We boast of the principle that a man is innocent until proven guilty.

But one gets a frightening notion that maybe the person is innocent until the finger of the law is put on him. From then on, anything can happen.

Alberni Handicapped Want Permanent Home

POR ALBERNI — A handicapped association, started in the Alberni in 1962, is trying to launch a building campaign to get in a permanent building instead of the present rented premises. Mrs. Adelaide Dent, secretary of the Handicapped Association, says she has sent out 178 letters to business people and organizations, asking for help to get the fund started. "Our present building expense is exorbitant," she explained. "Our lease runs out in October and although we could buy the building we are in, it would cost far more than we could manage for alterations."

Mrs. Dent herself is a partner in Hand-in-Hand Enterprises, a secretarial and duplication service in the Valley. Seven other handicapped people, however, work in the Remploy Building on Third Avenue.

There Ron Cooper, from his wheelchair, operated a coin-operated sales service. Upstairs, a used clothing department offers clean used garments at modest prices.

And a pleasant little coffee shop offers a spot of refreshment to those customers or downtown shoppers who want a little rest.

SELF-SUPPORTING

"Many people think we get a government grant," said Mrs. Dent, "but we don't. We depend entirely on our own efforts."

The building they'd like to buy costs $45,000. At least $10,000 of this is required to take the place over.

Then the handicapped association feels it could make payments on the balance with the money formerly used for rent, heat and utilities. At present alone is $200 a month.

The association has appointed president Les Ageson, Dr. Jack Cubbin and Marsha Antonelli to discuss matters with the local school board.

The three will attempt to work out details of possible take-over of the Beaufort School for Retarded by the start of the 1967 school term.

PARENTS — The association, which has 35 members, includes about 18 who are truly handicapped. The others are parents and members of families of handicapped people.

Associate memberships are available.

COURTNEY — Beaufort Chapter, Retarded Children's Association, wants legislation that would require all school boards to take over retarded classes.

There is now permissive legislation which allows boards to operate the retarded schools if they wish.

The Beaufort group would have this made compulsory.

A resolution will go from the group to the provincial conference of the association in Nanaimo May 19 to 22.

Awards But No Cash...Enough to Make Masque Bawl

By MARY TAYLOR

POR ALBERNI — Take a tingling three-act mystery, add a dash of murder, an award-winning director and 18 years of successful drama experience, and you've got an evening of breath-taking entertainment.

The Night Is My Enemy, to be presented by the Masque Dramatic Society Saturday in the senior high school promises just that!

Louis Woodthorpe, director of the production, keeps up the high standard set during the past 18 years by the Masque Society.

He has a best director award. Hazel Ritchie, one of the backbone members of the group, has two best actress awards, and Marjorie Hall, who has taken on innumerable jobs for the group as well as acting, has several honorable mentions.

In The Night Is My Enemy, the Masque has been unable to expenses.

Maureen Lemmerick, a former member of the award-winning CYO Drama Club, plays the blind girl Roanne.

Two new members, John Parker and Lorraine Black, also play major roles, while Jack Ashbridge, Rita Kitchener, Martin Beers, Jacqueline Miles and George Smith carry the supporting roles.

Mrs. Hall returns, after a long absence, as a family friend of ghoulish temperament and clacking tongue.

There has never been an artistic failure staged by the Masque Dramatic Society. But very few have been financially rewarding to the extent that the club could undertake the full-scale advertising and promotion of the next play.

It's a vicious circle, known to only too many drama groups. Despite its proud backlog of awards for acting and directing, the multitudinous miscellaneous return to Dominion Drama Festivals since 1959, when lack of funds forced the club's withdrawal.

Constant insolvency and chronic shortage of actors and production crews, have almost forced the drama club to the wall on several occasions.

Cost of production is not small, no matter what care you take to watch the spending. Hall rental is the greatest single expense.

The only hall in the Valley truly suitable is the high school auditorium, which is actually a little large for our audiences, but has the best stage facilities for production," explained Hazel Fosse.

Cost for a single evening performance and one dress rehearsal is close to $125 plus costume rental, advertising and promotion.

Despite its proud backlog of awards for acting and directing, the multitudinous miscellaneous return to Dominion Drama Festivals since 1959, when lack of funds forced the club's withdrawal.

Sydney Risk, who recently conducted a Masque workshop, was impressed by its size and despite its unfinished inside and unglamorous outside, pointed out the club is fortunate to have so much space available whenever needed and for as long as they wish for rehearsals.

It's been a mixed blessing at times. Lighting, heating, insurance, all have added up to a sum that members have at times, had to dig from their own pockets.

That gave birth to the idea of associate memberships, for $1 each. Associate members are admitted to performances during that year for the reduced price of just 75 cents.

The idea resulted in 60 associate members. And the same year the Leon and Theo Kroener Foundation gave $250, which enabled the club to stage the very successful Anniversary Waltz.

Last winter, Aladdin was staged to benefit the Senior Citizens Fund, to the delight of both adults and youngsters.

Despite the possibility The Night Is My Enemy could be the Masque's final production, unquenchable theatrical optimism keeps sleeping through

The group has been asked by the Alberni Council of the Arts to open a festival of the arts in May with two one-act plays. Stan Graves will be director, with one cast chosen, and the other, together with the names of the plays, to be announced later.

Why has the Masque endured perpetual ups and downs for 18 years?

"We just love it, that's all," members decided.

'Park Gutted' Kiernan Blamed

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan Thursday accused Kenneth Kiernan, first as mines minister and later as recreation and conservation minister, of personally plotting the opening of Strathcona Park to mining interests.

He told the legislature that records for 162 claims staked at the southwestern end of Buttle Lake were issued between 1959 and 1963, while Mr. Kiernan was want and when they want it," while the people of B.C. and members of the House were being "led down the garden path ... never knowing what was going on."

POLLUTION — The opposition leader also pointed out that after Western Mines issued a prospectus of its holdings for 162 claims staked at the southwestern end of Buttle Lake outside the jurisdiction of the provincial Pollution Control Board.

Earlier, Leo Nimsick (NDP, Cranbrook) told the House that "Operation Chop Up" started in Strathcona Park shortly after the new Parks Act was passed in 1965.

Industrial interests see British Columbia's provincial parks as a "veritable paradise for exploitation if they could ever get their hands on them," he said.

PURCHASE — His brief pointed out that it would probably cost B.C. $30,000,000 or $40,000,000 to eliminate Western Mines' alienation in the park by buying them out.

"If the province were in a position to spend this kind of money for park acquisition purposes, in my opinion the money could be spent more advantageously elsewhere, for many desirable park and recreational areas could be bought for much less than it would cost to buy the mineral claims of Western Mines," it stated.

"In some cases it is practical to eliminate the alienations in the large parks by various means which include purchase or trade or leasehold land where it is practical to do so."

"Where the private holdings of timber land or mineral rights are on the border of a park, it is in some cases possible by a simple boundary amendment to remove the alienation from the park and, in some instances, this is the best course to take," Mr. Kiernan's brief stated.

House Evenly Divided

Debate Turning Emotional

OTTAWA (CP) — The emotional content of the Commons capital punishment debate stepped up Thursday as abolitionists and retentionists tossed out Bible quotations and statistics for and against abolishing the hangman.

By the end of the second day of debate, 27 MPs had taken part. Thirteen supported abolition, 12 supported retention and two were undecided.

DIVINE LAW

Conservative Jack McIntosh (Swift Current - Maple Creek) was the first MP to urge retention, arguing that the government has a right under divine law to defend society in wartime and from murderers.

Prime Minister Pearson heard one of his Liberal MPs rap him and the cabinet for commuting to life imprisonment sentences of death when there was no recommendation for mercy.

BOTH SIDES

Mme. Vanier, wife of the Governor-General, was a spectator for more than an hour during the afternoon. Prime Minister Pearson's wife was there for several hours.

Wednesday, the opening day of the three-day debate, four abolitionists and one undecided MP spoke. Thursday MPs who want the death penalty retained and those who want it scrapped were in the debate.

Most recent death was David Robert Chapman, 43, of Calgary, who died at his home to defend society.

MPs had to consider the issue in terms of the government's responsibility towards society.

WAR

If the government had no right to hang murderers or traitors, soldiers had no justification for being proud to serve in the armed forces during wartime. He said padres tell soldiers entering battle that they are fighting on behalf of their government, not as individuals.

He agreed with a recent resolution of the Young Progressive Conservative Association that the death penalty should be retained for persons convicted of premeditated murder, murder of a law enforcement officer, anyone previously convicted of murder and treason.

SUBSTITUTE LIFE

The Commons' resolution, sponsored by four MPs from the Liberal, Conservative and New Democratic parties, would abolish the death penalty and substitute a mandatory life sentence. Parole of murderers would be subject to a federal cabinet order.

Mr. McIntosh rejected arguments that many murderers are not responsible for their actions because they come from slums or lack education. Neither environment nor heredity was the basic cause. It was something "in the heart or mind." It must be horrible to watch a hanging. But a murder was more horrible.

Warning Device Developed

No More Mid-Air Collisions?

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — McDonnell Aircraft Corp. announced Thursday it has developed a warning device that can eliminate mid-air collisions of airplanes.

The device has been tested on McDonnell's phantom jet fighter planes and probably will be developed for use by airliners.

MINUTE'S WARNING

It provides a 60-second warning to airplanes converging at speeds of up to four times the speed of sound, (640 m.p.h. at sea level) and even tells the pilots what evasive action to take to avoid a collision, a McDonnell spokesman said.

Airliners have been seeking such a system for 10 years. McDonnell claimed it is the first to develop it, and in Washington, a spokesman for the Air Transport Association of America said a collision avoidance system "is closer to realization than at any previous time."

The safety device is called EROS for Eliminate Range Zero System. It gives collision warnings to airplanes 1½ miles apart. The cockpit indicator has

Flu Fells West

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Influenza outbreaks of epidemic proportions were reported Thursday in parts of British Columbia, the Prairies, Ontario and Quebec, and five deaths have been attributed at least in part to the illness.

Most recent death was David Robert Chapman, 43, of Calgary, who died at his home to defend society.

MPs had to consider the issue in terms of the government's responsibility towards society.

PEAK PASSED

The other deaths were all in the Vancouver area where the flu epidemic reached its peak during the week of March 7. On that date 20 per cent of the city's students and 10 per cent of the teachers were absent from school.

Meanwhile, the epidemic now has hit as far north as Prince George and the Kootenay district of B.C. where absentee rates are high and some hospitals have cancelled visiting privileges.

RESTRICT VISITS

On the Prairies, schools and businesses reported high absentee rates and visiting has been restricted at hospitals in Saskatoon, Moose Jaw and Medicine Hat in Saskatchewan.

In Calgary, the outbreak has been prevalent for about a month and Health Officer Dr. Leslie C. Allan said it is "still quite prevalent in the city and may not abate for several more days." School absenteeism is estimated as high as 30 per cent of those voting.

TWO VIRUSES

In Winnipeg, a city health department official said two different viruses—one respiratory and one gastro-intestinal—appeared to have hit the city in succession as many people were stricken twice. The first peak in numbers of cases was in early March; the second was last week.

QUEBEC (CP) — In a close to $35,000,000 over the life of the two-year contract.

Some 6,500 government employees attended the Quebec City meeting at which the result of the vote was announced. Union negotiators had recommended that the offer be accepted.

Results of the vote, in which some 15,000 of 25,000 civil servants took part, were telephoned to Quebec City from outlying centres for compilation. The decision to accept the government offer was supported by 65 per cent of those voting.

The government offer provides for pay increases which it is estimated will cost $30,000,000.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI) — Uruguay's Council of Government went into secret session Thursday to consider details of an "affront" to its ambassador in London, Carlos Maria Velazquez, by Queen Elizabeth.

A government spokesman said the "affront" consisted of Elizabeth's alleged refusal to take the extended hand of the envoy at a diplomatic reception.

The spokesman said it was presumed the "affront" was delivered because the envoy wore insignia related to territorial areas over the jurisdiction of which the two countries are in litigation.

The spokesman said the foreign minister had asked the ambassador for more details on the alleged rebuff.

Affront Claimed

Uruguay Miffed By Royal Snub

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House agriculture committee approved legislation Thursday aimed at curtailing dognapping who steal pets for sale to research centres.

The bill gives the agriculture department licensing power over persons who sell cats and dogs for research and over the institutions which buy them.

The dealers, but not the institutions, also would be required to keep detailed records of how the animals are handled.

FIVE BEAT EIGER

KLEINE SCHEIDECK, Switzerland (UPI) — Five members of an international alpine team became the first persons to conquer the 6,000-foot vertical north wall of the Eiger Thursday night, capping a month-long straight-up climb that claimed the life of one companion and forced seven others to turn back.

But a blinding snowstorm that swept across the barren ice fields and nearly swept the exhausted alpinists away, forced them to turn back before reaching the summit.

They retreated back to the rim and bivouacked near the top of the icy wall which over the years has cost the lives of 27 climbers.

EASY CLIMB, NOW

Their camp was about 700 feet below the 13,000-foot summit and they waited a break in the weather to make the relatively easy climb to the top where two fellow climbers, flown in by helicopter, waited to greet them.

Five companions, including an American, turned back earlier Friday, almost within sight of victory. "We did not wish to commit suicide," said one of them, German Karl Gollnow.

Two Americans were among the 13-man team that started out to conquer the dreaded wall, but neither finished.

DEATH IN PLUNGE

Ex-fighter pilot John Harlin of Los Altos, Calif., was killed two days ago when a rope separated and he plunged 4,000 feet to his death. The other, Layton Kor of Boulder, Colo., was among the five men who were ordered back down the mountain during the day.

According to radio reports from the top of the wall, followed closely by Germans Siegfried Hupfauer, Günther Strobel and Roland Votteler.

FLEW TO SUMMIT

Two Britons, Chris Bonnington and Nick Burke, flew to the summit by helicopter to await their arrival and welcome them. But thick fog which reduced visibility to zero delayed the reunion.

The climbers reported by radio they had lost all sense of direction and would not move until the fog lifted.

LAND

Replied Mr. Kiernan: "We don't want to tell you it's absolutely 100 per cent (safe) until we know."

"If it isn't, the tailings will go on the land."

Mr. Gibson said that if, in the minister's judgment, there would be a greater return to the people from mining than from park use, the minister should "stand up in the cabinet and tell Mr. Premier that's what you're going to do."

"Western Mines is doing nothing but good for the people of this province," said Mr. Gibson.

Even Diagnosis Dangerous

Beware 'the Diseases of Medical Progress'

By DELOS SMITH
Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two physicians offer this humble pie to all physicians: "Unfortunately, the explosive advance in our knowledge and capabilities in medicine does not differ from any other explosion. Individuals exposed to it are liable to be harmed."

Dr. Stanley G. Seckler and Ruth C. Spritzer were by no means the first doctors to call attention to what have become known inside medical science as "the diseases of medical progress." But they were the first to describe an actual "disease" of fatal outcome and long stumbling duration.

They did so in a technical organ of the American Medical Association, to give point to the observation that whereas progress in medical science and practice has reduced illnesses and deaths from naturally occurring diseases, "modern standards of medical care have created an ever-increasing and diversified group of artificially induced diseases."

The "diseases" they described had its beginning when a Chinese man was admitted to the (New York) city hospital centre, a teaching hospital, because he was jaundiced.

He had had drug treatment for a small infection of tuberculosis. One drug diminished his hearing; the other reacted in his liver, causing the jaundice and later it was to react in a peptic ulcer. A dye was put into his veins for a liver study and there was an allergic reaction resulting in dermatitis.

At the same time a sample of liver was taken by needle for biopsy which led to a bile infection which was treated by an antibiotic which depressed the bone marrow. Meanwhile the dermatitis and its allergic cause involved the kidneys. Adrenal hormones were administered for that condition and the peptic ulcer.

The next development was a psychosis and a perforation of the ulcer. This inflamed the intestinal lining and resulted in the patient's death 76 days after his admission to the hospital.

Autopsy revealed two acute ulcers in addition to the perforated one, advanced and multiple lung disease, and diseased states of liver, colon and kidneys.

This would appear to suggest diagnostic techniques modern medicine has to offer. Drs. Seckler and Spritzer commented: "Recent studies have shown that 20 per cent of hospitalized patients at teaching institutions experienced deleterious complications directly related to their medical care and major complications which are life-threatening or a contributing cause of death have occurred in some 5 per cent of these patients."

This would appear to suggest
